Preliminary School Budget To Be Submitted At $8.7 M

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night voted to present a preliminary 1974-75 budget of $8,750,000 to the Town Manager by Saturday's deadline required by law.

The Committee will then go into public work sessions beginning next Tuesday, to discuss the budget line by line. A lesser amount, if history serves, will most likely be presented to the Town Meeting in March.

In addition to the $8.7 million is a $651,000 item of deferred salaries, which will appear separately on the Town Warrant.

The $9,081,083 preliminary budget proposed by the administration in order to allow more "options" for discussion in coming weeks, was rejected by a 3-2 vote Tuesday night. Committeemen William Lane and William King gave their temporary approval to the higher figure.

Chairman Francis Griggs, who broke the tie vote to defeat the higher limit, insisted the lesser amount was not a "cut," but merely a "decrease in the increase," and admitted he was holding on "with clenched teeth" to his desire not to increase the school's portion of the tax rate.

The $8,750,000 figure ($6,621,858.75 for salaries and $2,128,125 for expenses) still represents an increase of $900,000 over the 72-73 budget of $7,841,075. The current budget provides $6,252,950 for salaries and $1,588,125 for expenses.

The proposed budget would increase the salaries account by $368,925 and expenses by $540,000 and while the administration's preliminary budget would have increased salaries allotments by $503,204 and expenses by $747,500.

However, many of the increases are those over which the town has little control, and the administration emphasized the "variables."

Edward Regan, assistant superintendent, led off the meeting by presenting the administration's preliminary budget as "the best estimate of the system's needs," and adding that the administration was "very sensitive to the economic picture and the needs of the community." If the budget were cut further, he said, the system would have to do without some services, and he went on to explain three major variables.

While built-in increases could be planned for in the salary column, he said, the big unknown was the salary settlements which would have to be negotiated with various groups.

Another important variable, he said, was the cost of fuel in the Bowl Game To Be Played On Sunday

The Andover High - Catholic Memorial playoff bowl game has been re-scheduled to Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Boston University field.

Tickets for the game will be sold at the athletic office at Andover High school, in front of the gymnasium, through Friday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Tickets are $2 each here and $3 at the gate in Boston.

Bus tickets will also be sold, but only through Friday at the athletic office. Tickets for the bus are $1 each for both students and adults. All bus reservations must be made by Friday afternoon.

Selectmen Issue Regional Policy

The selectmen Monday night moved toward putting the elective body of the town, namely themselves, directly involved in the decision making process in regional matters.

The board unanimously approved a policy statement which indicated that representatives to regional commissions or boards will carry the feelings of the board to that body.

Also, the selectmen will seek legislative changes in the regional planning provisions to allow other than planning board members to be active delegates for the town.

The regional policy stems from a long standing controversy regarding Andover's participation in the Central Merrimack Regional Planning Commission of which Andover is a member along with other cities and towns in the Merrimack Valley area from here to the coast.

While outlining its policy on regional planning, the board also informed Mrs. Joan Gilliatt, sub-committee member to the Merrimack Wastewater Management Study, that it would not be a participant at this time.

Problem with the latter study, being conducted by the Valley Regional Planning Commission and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, is that it provides for a citizen group participation in the discussion and decision making process.

The Selectmen, according to Chairman Roger W. Collins, object to this phase, since they feel elected officials and appointees should have more than an equal say with just interested citizens or groups.

Parking Ban To Begin

The winter parking ban will go into effect in Andover on Dec. 1.

One hour parking only is permitted on Andover streets between the hours of 1 a.m. and 6 a.m. through April 1.

The ban is to facilitate the combatting of winter storm conditions.

NEW PROBLEM. This is a demonstration of what some Andover people are seeing these days as their bundles of paper put out for recycling have been picked up by other than the contractor. First reports indicated a car was being used, but lately an unmarked truck has been spotted.

Hijacking Of Paper Becomes A Concern

Andover's paper recycling program, which has been running along smoothly for the past several months, is running into unforeseen problems - namely hijackers.

The bundled paper, put out during the night for next day municipal pickup, is reportedly being stolen.

Initially there were reports of such activity taking place by persons using a white car. Lately, however, reports indicate the paper hijackers are using a truck to make their pickups.

John Lewis, who is co-ordinating the recycling and municipal refuse pickup program, reports that there is a problem.

Last week there was a considerable drop in the total tonnage picked up in Andover.

The first week of paper pickup in November resulted in 51 tons. Last week, the second week, there were only 21 tons collected.

Lewis says that some of this drop can be attributed to the stolen paper, but also to be considered in the totals is the number of weeks between paper pickups. The first week in November was the results of a three week accumulation, while there were only two weeks involved in the 21 ton total.

The co-ordinator states that while the theft of paper is somewhat responsible for the drop, he cautions against feeling that the hijacking is in such large volume.

Lewis also says it is a problem the recycling committee and town official could not foresee in planning the program last spring.

But the price of paper has increased substantially, thus it is possible becoming a worthwhile venture for thieves to delve into.

Residents are advised to be on the lookout for possible illegal pickup of paper.

The contractor for the town, John Craig, has trucks clearly marked Industrial Container Corp., which are the only vehicles which should be picking up the paper.

Any other vehicles stealing the material and thus cutting into the revenue the town is to receive to offset costs of the recycling and refuse pickup program.

Most of the operations are carried out by night, since residents have been asked to place the material out in order to

Big Greeting Due Santa On Saturday

Jiminy Crickets, Pinocchio and Papa Geppetto have signed on the Saturday's parade to welcome Santa Claus to Andover, a parade spokesman said this week.

They'll join a dozen or so other storybook characters, untold clowns and floats and five bands, in the Fire-Fighters-sponsored parade which will begin at 10 a.m. at East Junior High School.

Santa himself will greet the crowds from a perch on the Fire Department's aerial platform.

According to Robert E. Demers, parade chairman, the entourage will proceed down Bartlet St. to Punchard Ave. to Main St., through downtown to Shawsheen Plaza.

Meanwhile, this week, Demers was crossing his fingers for fair weather. Last year the parade was rained out three weeks in a row.

Members of the Andover High School band will be in the line of march. Other participating musical units will include the Blue Angels Drum and Bugle Corps from Danvers, the Sacred Heart Band from Lowell; the White Eagles Drum and Bugle Corps from Methuen; and the Clan McPherson Bagpipe Band of Andover.

Represented by floats will be Andover High, East and West Junior High Schools, the South Lawrence Associates, and the Fire Fighters. The Pinocchio characters will be on one of the Fire Fighter's floats, and Smokey the Bear will appear on one from the Forestry Division.

Members of the Andover Society and their children will once again don their clown costumes for the festivities.

Academy Receives $5M. Gift

John W. Watzek, Jr.

A $5 million gift, the largest made to 195-year-old Phillips Academy in modern times, has been granted through a trust established by the late John W. Watzek, Jr., a member of the Class of 1910.

Mr. Watzek set up the "general fund" trust in memory of his parents and his brother Charles H. Watzek, '06, who predeceased him.

A major benefactor during his life Mr. Watzek was at the same time both a staunch friend and a searching questioner. While making major gifts for faculty salaries, the Alumni Fund, the acquisition of adjacent land and the construction of a new dormitory, he was also a close inquirer into such policies as those governing faculty salaries, the investment policy of the Trustees, and the mission of the school.

Trustee President Donald H. McLean, Jr., called him a distinguished example of the concerned and informed alumnus. Neither his questions nor his interest ever flagged. For many years he met annually with the late Headmaster John M. Kemper for a thorough review of school affairs. What stood out always was his faith in mankind and in the school, despite occasional sharp differences of opinion.

"Far better than most he recognized that the real strength of an institution lies in the support by those who know it best," McLean went on. "None of his gifts was more significant than the Matching Gift Plan he offered anonymously to stimulate the alumni of Phillips Academy in their contributions to the Andover Alumni Fund."

In the course of three years in the mid-60's the number of alumni contributing to the Alumni Fund increased from 5,272 to 6,454, and this increase was reflected in a corresponding increase in dollars. The result was a significantly broader base of alumni support which has helped substantially to maintain Andover's position as a low-tuition school which, in the words of Phillips Academy's charter, in 1778, "shall ever be equally open to Youth, of requisite qualifications, from every quarter."

In announcing the gift, Headmaster Theodore R. Sizer said, "Mr. Watzek's great generosity is the strongest possible affirmation of the school's historic mission. It is significant to me that he established this trust in 1971 at a time when unrest was so widespread on school and college campuses. It is significant that he designated the fund's income to be used for 'the general purposes of the Academy' - the broadest and most helpful terms for the institution. And it is significant that it comes at a time when we are starting to look ahead to the Academy's 200th birthday, and beyond. We accept this gift, and with it the implicit challenge to move forward positively and imaginatively."

"It was my privilege to know

Mr. Watzek for only one year, but from my brief acquaintanceship I am well aware of the intensity of principle and the belief which he and my predecessor, John M. Kemper, shared in the destiny of this school."

On the occasion of the dedication of Nathan Hale House in 1966, Mr. Watzek spoke to an Andover audience of some of his family history and personal philosophy in a talk entitled "To Be of Service." He said it gave him great pleasure "to repay in part my indebtedness to Andover for all that it has done for me."

He related how his father, an orphan, emigrated to this country from Bohemia at the age of 14, worked his way through Wyoming Seminary in Pennsylvania and later through the University of Iowa Medical School, and eventually became one of the better known doctors in Iowa.

"He was a firm but kindly taskmaster and taught me the importance of hard work and particularly discipline," Mr. Watzek said. "My mother, who was of Quaker origin and a grade school teacher at Sigourney, Iowa, before marrying my father, taught me the importance of sharing and helping others."

"He said it was his hope that naming the building for Nathan Hale 'will have meaning to many generations of Andover students, both with regard to true patriotism and a deep-seated respect and affection for America,'" and he concluded with a quotation from an address by Yale's Professor Leonard W. Labaree at a ceremony commemorating the 200th Anniversary of Nathan Hale's birthday.

"Most of us are not called upon to make the supreme sacrifice, but all of us are called upon to be useful. As we pause to pay tribute to Nathan Hale, may we remember his simple reply to his friend I wish to be useful," and his last words, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country, and rededicate ourselves to be of service to our fellow men and to America."

Following Andover, Mr. Watzek was graduated from Yale University and Cornell University. In 1918 he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Ordnance Department, U.S. Army, and served until the end of World War I. During World War II he served in Washington as head of the Lumber Division of the Council of National Defense. Since 1919 he was engaged in the lumber business, serving as an officer and director of Jackson Lumber Co., Lockhart, Ala., The Crossett Co., Crossett, Ark., and Fordyce Lumber Co., Fordyce, Ark. He was an honorary member of the Business Council, Washington, D.C.; president of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Washington, D.C., 1935-1936; and past director of the American Forestry Association, Washington, D.C.

He was a brother of the late A.R. Watzek and the late C. H. Watzek, '06, and is survived by his nephew, Peter F. Watzek, '35, of Greenville, Miss., and his niece, Mrs. Frances W. Warren, of Eugene, Ore.

Selectmen Defend Agreement

The selectmen Monday night accepted a petition signed by 14 residents asking the board to seek further considerations from the Hewlett-Packard Co. in the conservation easement granted to the town.

Selectman Alan F. French responded briefly to the points in the petition after noting that none of the petitioners were in attendance at the session.

French, who had negotiated with H-P on the 100 foot conservation easement, said that while the town would like the 100 foot easement he felt the town had done the best it could in obtaining a 50 foot easement. Conservation was not the only consideration in the negotiations and when the matter was presented at town meeting Harold Rafton, who had been the prime mover in the petition, had no objection at the time.

French said the deed was highly restrictive and holds the land in an open state in perpetuity, even if there should be new owners of the land.

He felt the conservation strip was suitable for a trail system requested by the conservationists and that the comment that the agreement was discriminatory against the town was a matter of opinion.

Harold Rafton has been seeking further considerations for the town on the conservation strip along the Merrimack River. The selectmen insist the agreement reached is acceptable and amenable to both the town and the new medical-electronics firm planning to locate in the West Andover Industrial area.

Validated Bus Service To Begin On Monday

Monday will see a new form of transportation for shoppers in Andover Center-Validated Bus Service.

H. Charles Heseltine, Chairman of the Andover Center Retail Task Force, has announced that the Task Force's Validated Bus Service program will go into effect on Monday, Dec. 3.

The program, according to Heseltine, is designed to be of assistance in two areas: to increase the convenience of shopping in Andover Center and to decrease use of private automobiles due to dwindling gasoline supplies. "We feel that the new program will help both the individual shopper and merchant by making a shopping trip to Andover Center even more convenient than in the past and the overall energy situation in our area by allowing motorists who wish to shop Andover Center to leave their private vehicles at home and take the bus."

The project is jointly sponsored by the Task Force and Trombly Motor Coach and will encompass all existing routes of Trombly Motor Coach service between North Andover, South Lawrence and Andover.

The Service will work in the following manner: the customer will get on the bus at a stop near his or her home, pay the bus driver a one-way fare and ask for an Andover Center bus ticket; upon the customer's completing a minimum purchase in a participating store (minimum to be set by individual store), the customer will receive the initial fare from the merchant in cash and will have the back of the validated ticket stamped which will be good for the return fare on the bus. Through the process of reimbursement and validation, the customer will be able to ride the bus for no charge.

The following stores will participate in the Validated Bus Service Program: Andover Gift House; The Bath House; Cole Paint and Hardware Company; The Dame Shop; Dana's Sport Shop; Elander & Swanton; Grecoe Jewelers; Macartney's; Olde Village Flower Shop; The Shoe Tree; Sutherland's; Taylor Shop; William's Fine Jewelry; Yankee Lady.

Validated Bus Service To Begin On Monday

Monday will see a new form of transportation for shoppers in Andover Center-Validated Bus Service.

H. Charles Heseltine, Chairman of the Andover Center Retail Task Force, has announced that the Task Force's Validated Bus Service program will go into effect on Monday, Dec. 3.

The program, according to Heseltine, is designed to be of assistance in two areas: to increase the convenience of shopping in Andover Center and to decrease use of private automobiles due to dwindling gasoline supplies. "We feel that the new program will help both the individual shopper and merchant by making a shopping trip to Andover Center even more convenient than in the past and the overall energy situation in our area by allowing motorists who wish to shop Andover Center to leave their private vehicles at home and take the bus."

The project is jointly sponsored by the Task Force and Trombly Motor Coach and will encompass all existing routes of Trombly Motor Coach service between North Andover, South Lawrence and Andover.

The Service will work in the following manner: the customer will get on the bus at a stop near his or her home, pay the bus driver a one-way fare and ask for an Andover Center bus ticket; upon the customer's completing a minimum purchase in a participating store (minimum to be set by individual store), the customer will receive the initial fare from the merchant in cash and will have the back of the validated ticket stamped which will be good for the return fare on the bus. Through the process of reimbursement and validation, the customer will be able to ride the bus for no charge.

The following stores will participate in the Validated Bus Service Program: Andover Gift House; The Bath House; Cole Paint and Hardware Company; The Dame Shop; Dana's Sport Shop; Elander & Swanton; Grecoe Jewelers; Macartney's; Olde Village Flower Shop; The Shoe Tree; Sutherland's; Taylor Shop; William's Fine Jewelry; Yankee Lady.

Selectmen Defend Agreement

The selectmen Monday night accepted a petition signed by 140 residents asking the board to seek further considerations from the Hewlett-Packard Co. in the conservation easement granted the town.

Selectman Alan F. French responded briefly to the points in the petition after noting that none of the petitioners were in attendance at the session.

French, who had negotiated with H-P on the 100 foot conservation easement, said that while the town would like the 100 foot easement he felt the town had done the best it could in obtaining a 50 foot easement. Conservation was not the only consideration in the negotiations and when the matter was presented at town meeting Harold Rafton, who has been the prime mover in the petition, had no objection at that time.

French said the deed was highly restrictive and holds the land in an open state in perpetuity, even if there should be new owners of the land.

He felt the conservation strip was suitable for a trail system as requested by the conservationists and that the comment that the agreement was discriminative against the town was a matter of opinion.

Harold Rafton has been seeking further considerations for the town on the conservation strip along the Merrimack River. The selectmen insist the agreement reached is acceptable and amenable to both the town and the new medical-electronics firm planning to locate in the West Andover Industrial area.

Recycling Is Successful FinCom Is Informed

Recycling in Andover is a success, according to a recent report to the Finance Committee from the Recycling Committee.

Newspaper, which was bringing $5 per ton last July, netted the town $20 per ton for the first pick-up week in November and $25 per ton for the second week. This was $1500 total for November just for paper. The increasing shortage in the field is part of the reason for this increase but equally important is the steady flow of a valuable raw material to the factory.

That's what Andover is providing, a flow of raw material regularly and with increasing volume. The buyer needs more and it is hoped Andover can supply more. Citizens are reminded that paper may be tied in bundles or put into grocery bags - either is acceptable.

Glass and tin are proving profitable also although the volume is not as great. Both are stored at the landfill until there are enough tons to make shipping economical. Both will bring $20 per ton. Labels must be removed from cans; the cans flattened where possible to save on volume. All types of cans are acceptable whether flattened or not. Metal shortages are increasing; metals must be recycled.

The price of glass has gone up too since Andover began collecting. Their is a shortage of soda ash used in glass manufacture and manufacturers have found that the use of old glass in their process takes less energy (heat) and less time (wear and tear on machinery) than starting from scratch. However the process has not yet been perfected that can use mixed colors all together. The homemaker still must separate glass as to color and remove the caps. Labels need not be removed.

If storage of three colors is a problem, you are urged to separate whichever color you have the most of and put it out on glass week. Mixed glass will not be picked up as the town has no labor available to separate it and the buyer will not buy it.

Glass, cans and paper can be taken to the landfill any Wednesday afternoon or any Saturday for recycling if you miss the pick up at your house or don't wish to store for as long a time. Corrugated cardboard, old tires and other metals may also be deposited at the landfill for recycling.

Remember the recycling schedule for December is Paper, Dec. 3-6; Glass Dec. 10-13; Paper Dec. 17-20; Cans Dec. 24-28. Call 475-3661 if your house is missed.

School Budget

expense column. The administration had estimated an increase of $100,000 for fuel, and Business Manager Ed Weil said Wednesday he didn't see how that figure could be any less.

Still another, and even larger variable, is the amount the town must pay for the state-mandated Program 766. While the details are forthcoming, it now appears that the town will be required to take on the transportation and tuition of children who must go to special schools. Regan estimated the cost at $10,000 per child, and said there are now 44 such children in town.

More details are expected to be presented on 766 at next Tuesday's meeting. Meanwhile, the administration had allotted $440,000 for the program in the preliminary budget. That plus the oil increase alone bring expense increases up to $440,000.

Another consideration, Regan said, was the assessments of school programs now underway. He said it was hard to know what costs would be recommended until the report is made after the first of the year, and one of the administration's concerns was the morale of teachers who come before the School Committee with evaluations and requests.

"To reduce the budget at this point," said Committeeman Lane, in defending the higher start, "puts us all under a tremendous handicap. To ask people to come in and evaluate programs, and then cut off funds, can only frustrate professional people."

He added that the townspeople now have their time to come before the committee during these hearings and to speak for and against programs.

"To stifle that is not in keeping with the trust that has been given us," he went on. "At least give us the flexibility to deal with recommendations that may or may not come from the hearings.

Business Manager Edward Weil insisted that "until we've gone through this line by line, let's not kill any of our options," and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, added, "You as a school committee have spent large sums on testing and program assessment. If you want to cut, then let's not ask professional administrators to spend thousands of hours or time in program assessment after the fact."

"We know the amount is going to be lower," these are austere times," Seifert said, and added that historically the preliminary budget had been cut by the time it appeared at Town Meeting.

"But," he said, "we should say to the townspeople, here are the services, here are the options. What do you think?"

"You don't cut out thoughts and programs just because we have to meet a Dec. 1 deadline."

Chairman Griggs agreed that "we're putting ourselves in a bind, but it's not necessarily all bad."

The administration's budget, moved by King and seconded by Lane, was then defeated 3-2, and the motion for the lower budget made by John Lyons. It passed 3-1-1, with King voting "no" and Lane abstaining.

Committeeman John Wragg presented figures showing his "more than reasonable assumption" that the schools could swallow the $651,000 in deferred salaries in the current operating budget. By his projections, he said, there would be a $650,000 increase surplus at the end of the year.

Weil, however, knocked that surplus down to an estimated $40,000. He said that Wragg's figures didn't include, among other things, weekly payroll, salaries for positions that are temporarily open, increase in fuel in winter months, and the like.

The Committee, however, informally renewed its charge of a year ago, for the administration to try to absorb as much of the deferred amount as possible.

Next Tuesday's open meeting, also at 7:30 p.m. at the high school, will include general overview of the budget, and a look at the maintenance part of the expense column.

$342,000 Windfall Expected

A windfall of $342,000 is expected by the town following legislative approval Tuesday of a transportation bill.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported Wednesday that he would await further information regarding the bill which is to provide towns and cities with funds for highway improvements, or funds to be applied to reduce the tax rate.

The funds are included in a bill approved by all area legislators and will further assist the Mass. Bay Transportation Authority.

The money to be provided to cities and towns is for highway work, where applicable.

Town Manager Austin reports that Chapter 90 funds are to be done away with under terms of the legislation, he believes. In the past Chapter 90 funds were provided by the state, county and town.

At present the town is going over a new classification of streets, designating them as primary roads and feeder streets, in order to conform to new state allotments, of which the funds approved Tuesday are believed to be a part.

Further the manager said, the funds may possibly be allowed for use on the drainage projects undertaken annually.

Selectmen

Both Selectmen Alan F. French and Milton Greenberg, who have been at odds over regional planning for some time, stated Monday night that they were not opposed to the concept as such, but felt it incumbent on the elected officials of the town to have a more active say in matters.

Greenberg said it was the attempt of the board to more properly represent the town and to be an active voice in regional considerations and not just one of many faceless people in a crowd.

The policy, the selectmen stated, is designed to put the board and the town in action positive mode, rather than a deliberative one.

At present the regional planning commission is set up to have a planning board member as the delegate from the town. In other communities, planning boards are elective bodies, an appointive one in Andover.

John Sheehy has been the delegate to the CMVRP, with Selectman French as a non-voting alternate.

School Business Manager Gets $2,000 Increase

School Business Manager

Edward A. Weil was reappointed to that position with a $2,000 raise by the Andover School Committee last week, over a salary objection by Committeeman John G. Wragg.

The increase amounted to nearly 11 per cent above Weil's former $16,000-a-year salary, and Wragg objected that it would not be in line with the 4.7 per cent raises given other administrators last month.

Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, in turn objected to the "percentage game" and called the $1500 raise that Wragg proposed "grossly inadequate." He said that last year, in his first year as business manager, Weil saved more than $107,000 by his business practices.

"We keep punishing those who are motivated to do a better job," Seifert said.

In other action, the Committee appointed Mrs. Marilyn Cronin a kindergarten teacher at West Elementary; Gene Rapisardi, fourth grade teacher at Sanborn; Mrs. Nancy James, instructional aide at Doherty; Mrs. Jane Vondell, teacher aide at Doherty; and Mrs. Sondra Finegold, formerly a learning disability tutor, a language disability teacher at Bancroft.

The committee accepted the resignations of Earl Simon, Doherty School principal who has been on a leave of absence since July and has moved to another school system, and Mrs. Helen Cooper, a West Junior high science teacher who is moving; and granted a maternity leave to Mrs. Lesley Whitley, a kindergarten teacher at West Elementary.

Coaching positions were filled as follows: Wilbur Hixon, head basketball coach at the high school; William Vickers, junior varsity basketball, high school; Howard Tozier, sophomore basketball, high school; Lowell Canovitch, freshman basketball, East Jr. High; Theodore Boudreau, seventh and eighth grade basketball, East Jr. High; Arthur Yancy, freshman basketball, West Jr. High; George Sullivan, seventh and eighth grade basketball, West Jr. High.

Also at the high school are John Gleason, head of boys' gymnastics; Suzanne Shaw, head, and Marni Lawson, assistant girls' gymnastics; Bradford Lawson, head girls' basketball coach; Richard Bourdelais, head, and Carmen Iannucci, assistant, indoor track; Richard Valle, head, and Michael Bruno, assistant, ice hockey; and William Drummond, equipment manager.

Junior high equipment managers include Kenneth Maglio and Gerald Green, at East and West respectively.

Favor Fuel To Longevity

Phillips Academy's Energy Conservation Committee, faculty and students, left fuel for a day Monday, has priorities and chosen strict economy, instead of opting for longer Christmas vacation period.

The need for fuel economy underscored Monday when, the first time in memory, oil delivery could not be made. Fuel delivery was delayed for a day, while the supplier waited for an oil barge to dock in Boston. PA officials say extending their Christmas vacations would effect little fuel savings for local boarding school. school-owned power plant must continue to operate to heat faculty homes, many of them dormitories.

A lengthened spring vacation on the other hand, would effect real fuel savings, according to George Neilson, PA business manager, since buildings could be totally cut off from heat at that time of year.

A 15-20 per cent reduction in fuel consumption is estimated from these three steps set by Energy Conservation Committee, and already in effect the boarding school campus:

1) Cutting day temperatures down to 65 degrees and night temperatures down to 61 degrees in all classrooms, dormitories

Favor Fuel Economy To Longer Vacation

Phillips Academy's Energy Conservation Committee of faculty and students, left fuelless for a day Monday, has set priorities and chosen strict fuel economy, instead of opting for a longer Christmas vacation period.

The need for fuel economy was underscored Monday when for the first time in memory, PA's oil delivery could not be made. Fuel delivery was delayed for a day, while the supplier waited for an oil barge to dock in Boston.

PA officials say extending their Christmas vacations would effect little fuel savings for the local boarding school. The school-owned power plant must continue to operate to heat the faculty homes, many of them in dormitories.

A lengthened spring vacation, on the other hand, would effect real fuel savings, according to George Neilson, PA business manager, since buildings could be totally cut off from heat at that time of year.

A 15-20 per cent reduction in fuel consumption is estimated from these three steps set by the Energy Conservation Committee, and already in effect on the boarding school campus:

1) Cutting day temperatures down to 65 degrees and night temperatures down to 61 degrees in all classrooms, dormitories,

Academy homes and other buildings on campus.

2) Turning the heat off completely from 6 p.m. to 4 a.m. and on weekends in George Washington Hall, the school's administrative headquarters, the Oliver Wendell Holmes Library and classroom buildings. School officials say the residual heat will keep these buildings warm enough for evening use at the boarding school, if people wear sweaters and are cautious about keeping doors and windows shut.

3) Shutting the heat completely off in certain large heating areas - buildings or sections of buildings. Cochran Chapel will not be heated this winter after December 14; the Academy's religious services and religion department offices will be relocated on the campus.

The field house and the basketball playing courts in the gymnasiums are in use, but are no longer heated. The gym courts pick up enough heat from surrounding areas to be comfortable for participants and spectators if they dress warmly. Sections of certain buildings have been closed, the heat shut off, pipes drained and the activities relocated. So far, the fuel economies have not meant curtailing PA's programs, but simply operating at cooler temperatures, and sometimes relocating the activity.

If more fuel cuts are necessary, the Energy Conservation Committee, chaired by Biology department head, Harper Follansbee, has more options before Phillips Academy's vital organs - the main classroom buildings and library, the dormitories and Commons - lose their heat, which would force closing the school until more fuel became available.

Next on the Academy's shutdown list, says Business Manager George Neilson, would be buildings with non-curricular use, such as Peabody House and Cooley House. Also under consideration for a heat shutdown are Pearson Hall's four classics classrooms, and all classrooms on the former Abbot campus, where the history, religion classes and some art classes now meet. These classes can be accommodated on the main PA campus if another class period is created. This can be done by shortening the 15-minute break between classes, that now allows students travel time between classes in the Abbot Cluster and those on the main PA campus.

"All of the above is intended as a phasing process to meet allocations with priorities centered around the Academic Instruction program," reports the Energy Conservation Committee, which met as school reopened after the Thanksgiving recess.

Decisions at Phillips, as elsewhere, obviously must be made on a day-to-day basis, depending on national and regional fuel policy decisions.

But the news is not all gloom. Several PA teachers and administrators point out that as long as the Academy's instruction program can be maintained, the challenge of the energy crisis holds a very positive educational potential for the PA community.

Alvin on Exhibit

Alvin is now sitting on the floor at the Worcester Science Center and takes up a lot of space. Alvin is a submarine on loan from the office of Naval Research, Washington, D.C.

The model is a fiberglass 3/4 scale replica of the 3 man deep research submersible which is usually based at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute on Cape Cod.

The real Alvin which is 23 feet long with an eight foot beam (width), was originally designed to operate at depths as great as 6,000 feet. This miniature submarine has been used for many scientific studies as well as several recovery missions.

SHOP EARLY - MAIL EARLY

VANDALISM IS MINDLESS DESTRUCTION. Seven concrete lampposts were knocked over on the Phillips Academy campus at approximately 2:30 a.m. Sunday morning. Student observer's comment: "Must be a sick mind to get its kicks that way." Repairs were effected Sunday.

Unusual Campout At Park

The fog didn't slow Recreation Park campers down one bit last weekend - in fact, according to one spokesman, it even helped with the spirit of "togetherness."

But the most unusual part of Friday's overnight campout, was that it was the first in this area, at least that anyone knows of, for crippled children.

Sponsored by the Northeast Region of the Easter Seal Society, with headquarters in Andover, the camp was attended by some 30 handicapped youngsters - two of them from Andover - plus some 35 youth volunteers and eight adult chaperones.

It all went so well, according to regional director Bruce Marquis, who was also responsible for some late night campfire stories, they plan another campout in April.

Many of the crippled youngsters, Marquis said, had never been away from their parents at all, much less in such rustic surroundings. But nearly everyone slept outside in tents and sleeping bags, and the kids, he said, didn't complain at all.

The group arrived at the campsite in time for box lunches Friday and spent the afternoon in scavenger hunts, inside games and sports. After evening snipe hunts, they sang around the campfire and, after the younger campers had turned in, told "ghost stories" until wee hours.

Up for a warmup by the fire at 6 a.m., the campers then took part in nature hunts, games, and sports, until time to pack up.

Diane Wright of Andover attended the camp as member of the Easter Seal Youth Camping Committee, and other members include Judy Hoyt of North Reading, Michael Basile of Woburn, Mary Carbone of Haverhill, and Mary Margaret Judge of Medford.

Paula Leed, an Andover High senior and regional youth chairman for the Easter Seal Society, was one of the volunteers for the campout.

and will start league schedules on Dec. 15.

11 & 12 year old boys (Juniors) will meet at East Junior High School, 1-2:30 p.m. under Director George Bragdon. Teams will be selected this Saturday and League play will start the following Saturday, Dec. 8.

Boys 13 & 14 years of age (Intermediates) will meet at East Junior High School 2:30-3:30 p.m. under Director Charles Conlon. Teams will be selected this Saturday. The teams will practice as units on the following Saturday and the League schedule of games will begin Dec. 15.

Mimeographed schedules will be mailed to each player of record prior to the start of his schedule of games.

OBITUARIES

Former No. Andover Selectman

A funeral Mass was offered at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Michael's Church, North Andover for Joseph M. Finneran, 82, former North Andover selectman and dean of Greater Lawrence pharmacists, who died Friday at Lawrence General Hospital following a short illness. Rev. James C. Shaughnessy was celebrant. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, North Andover.

Seated within the sanctuary were Rev. William Kelleher,

S.J., Rev. Edward J. Sullivan, S.J., Rev. John Mulchay, S.J., of Campion Hall and Rev. James DeAdder, rector of Pope John Seminary in Weston.

The bearers were Joseph C. Finneran, Jr., Thomas A. Finneran and William A. Finneran, Jr., grandsons; Francis J. Sullivan, nephew; Kevin C. Donovan and Nicholas Sarris.

Active in the suburban community's political and business life for many years, Mr. Finneran's drug store on Main Street has been a gathering place for young and old who knew they had a friend in "Joe" Finneran.

He ministered to the health needs of thousands during his 57 years as a registered pharmacist, initially at Forrest's and Daley's drug stores in Lawrence. Later, he worked at Keegan's drug store in South Lawrence and almost a half century ago established his own business in North Andover.

Along with operating the pharmacy, Finneran took time from his work to serve the community as a selectman for 13 years and lend his efforts to the activities of several civic and fraternal organizations. He was prominently identified with the building of Bon Secours Hospital.

Born in Lawrence on March 27, 1891, he was a World War I veteran, attended St. Michael's Church in North Andover, and was affiliated with the parish Holy Name Society.

He also held membership in Lawrence Council 67, Knights of Columbus, Greater Lawrence Pharmaceutical Association and the Massachusetts Association which he had served as director.

He made his home at 121 Waverly Road, North Andover, and was the widower of Eleanor A. (Dugan) Finneran.

He is survived by four sons, Dr. Joseph C. Finneran, chief surgeon at St. Vincent's Hospital, Indianapolis, Ind., John L. Finneran, a member of the faculty at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill, Robert E. Finneran, managing editor of the Andover-North Andover Townsman, and William A. Finneran, pharmacist at the family drug store; a sister, Mrs. William Brandy of Kennebunkport, Maine; and ten grandchildren.

MRS. ROBERT FRANZ

Mrs. Bessie R. (Cheyne) Franz, 83, 187 North Main St., Andover, widow of Robert Franz and past president of Ladies Auxiliary to Andover Post 8, American Legion, died Monday at Mary Immaculate Nursing home after a long illness.

She was born in Boston, Sept. 1, 1890, and attended St. Augustine's Church, Andover.

Surviving are a son, George A. Franz; a brother, George C. Cheyne, both of Andover; seven grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

The funeral Mass will be Thursday at 10 a.m. in St. Augustine's Church, Andover. Burial will be in St. Augustine's Cemetery, Andover.

MRS. MARION G. SHEEHAN

Mrs. Marion G. (Smith) Sheehan, 44 High Plain Road, Andover, died suddenly Friday at her home.

She was born in Rockland June 24, 1922 and was the widow of Eugene H. Sheehan.

Mrs. Sheehan attended St. Augustine's Church, Andover, and was a graduate of Our Lady of Nazareth Academy, Wakefield. She was a member of Nazareth Guild.

Surviving are a son, Eugene F. Sheehan of Andover; a daughter, Miss Kathleen M. Sheehan of Andover; a sister, Margaret, wife of James Heenan of Rockland; and a brother, Frederick G. Smith of Agawam.

The funeral Mass was offered Monday at 11 a.m. in St. Augustine's Church. Burial was in St. Augustine's Cemetery.

PHILIP GRAHAM, Jr.

Philip Graham, Jr., 31, 899 Essex St., Lawrence, a former resident of Andover, died suddenly Nov. 12 at Lawrence General Hospital.

He was born in Lawrence and was employed as a sheet metal worker at Bingham Manufacturing Co. He played on the 1957 Lawrence High School championship football team.

He is survived by his wife, the former Jean Cairnie; a son, Shawn Philip Graham; a daughter, Lisa Marie Graham; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Graham of Lawrence; and a brother, Dana Graham of Haverhill.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Elander

Retired Businessman, Wife Die In Fire

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Lundgren funeral home, 18 Elm St., Andover, for a retired, prominent, Andover businessman and his wife who perished when fire swept their home Thanksgiving morning.

Carl E. Elander, 89, and his wife, 90, 96 Elm St., Andover, died from third degree burns and smoke inhalation when trapped in the second floor of their two-story home. Their daughter, Miss May Elander, climbed to safety through a second floor window and was rescued by neighbors in the fire which was discovered about 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

Andover fire officials have listed spontaneous combustion as the cause of the fire, possibly from materials stored on the first floor of the house which was being renovated.

Assisting Miss Elander from the fire were Patrolmen Roger Dufresne, Joseph Ouellette and Joseph Hastings.

The popular couple had observed their 65th wedding anniversary in March.

Mr. Elander, 89, had owned and operated Elander and Swanton Clothing Co. in Andover for many years prior to his retirement.

Haverhill.

A funeral Mass was offered Thursday, Nov. 12 in St. Patrick's Church, Lawrence. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, North Andover.

Although having failing eyesight and difficulty in walking, he was a frequent visitor to the downtown area and to the store he founded.

He was active in the Andover business community since 1916. He came to this country from Sweden in 1902, settling first in Boston. Mrs. Elander, also a native of Sweden came to this country in 1902 and they married in Cambridge Lutheran Church on March 28, 1908. He began business in the Valpey block in 1916, later moving his business to the present location.

Mr. Elander was a member of South Church in Andover, a 50-year member of St. Matthew's Lodge, A.F. and A.M. in Andover, and held membership in the Andover Service Club, an organization he helped form.

In addition to the couple's daughter, he is survived by a brother, John R. Elander of Waltham, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Thompson of San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Elander was born Jan. 28, 1883 in Motala, Sweden and also was a member of South Church. She was affiliated with Andover Chapter, 187 Order of Eastern Star, for a half century and the November Club.

Their daughter is her lone survivor.

Memorial contributions may be made to Lawrence General Hospital or the South Church Memorial Fund, 41 Central St., Andover.

MRS. C. FRANK SULLIVAN

Mrs. Mary A. (Guiney) Sullivan, 59, wife of C. Frank Sullivan, 97 Maple Ave., North Andover, died Sunday at her home after a long illness.

Mrs. Sullivan was born in Lawrence and graduated from Lawrence High School in 1931.

She was an office manager at W.T. Grant Co. in Lawrence, and attended St. Michael's Church in North Andover. She was a member of Cardinal O'Connell

Pentucket Group In Concert

The Youth Chorus pro Musica, directed by Mrs. Roberta Humez, will accompany the Pentucket Choral Society on Dec. 8 at the Methuen Memorial Organ Hall, singing Arthur Honegger's "Une Cantate de Noel."

Youth pro Musica is a group of 60 Greater Boston boys and girls encompassing fifteen towns. The age range of the group is 9 to 15 years, with unchanged voices. Since its beginning three years ago as an adjunct to the Chorus pro Musica, the group has branched out on its own to perform in Boston area schools and churches, and has made several television and radio appearances. Its repertoire extends from pre-Baroque through contemporary music, often including excerpts from major oratorios and cantatas.

Tickets are now available from Pentucket Choral Society members, and will be sold at the door in Methuen on concert night.

Christmas Fair Set At Church

"Visions of Christmas" is the theme for this year's annual Christmas Fair to be held at Christ Church, Andover, on Saturday, Dec. 1, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Under the able leadership of Mrs. Lindsay Sedwick, chairman, and Mrs. Allen Gable, vice chairman, an enthusiastic committee has been working hard to make this year's fair the best one ever.

A host of enthusiastic people have been involved in creating beautiful aprons, knitted and crocheted items, stuffed animals, needlecraft, gifts and beautiful Christmas decorations. Talented artists are contributing their work in various media to the Arts Festival, and there will be Silhouettes by Margot Porter. Again this year will be the always popular Attic Treasures Room; the Country Kitchen, featuring baked ham, potato salad, baked beans, homemade applesauce, breads and relishes; and The Cheese Table.

Beautiful gifts and Christmas Decorations have been created by Mrs. Michael Fowler and her committee. A large selection of Jewelry - old, new and religious, will again be for sale. Fred Cummings is in charge of the Fisherman's Hook Booth where there will be demonstrations of the art of fly tying.

The Sweet Tooth will have tempting homemade fudge, candy and preserves for sale. Christmas greens and wreaths will once again be for sale.

For the younger set - there will be babysitting available along with movies and a Penny Arcade. Santa will be on hand to greet the youngsters, and they can have their picture taken with ole St. Nick.

Luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m., after which The Auction, featuring furniture, antiques and other interesting items will again prove to be exciting and entertaining.

Lecture Dec. 18

"Decorating the Eighteenth Century Interior" is the title of a lecture which will highlight an eighteenth century evening at the Harrison Gray Otis House. The Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities announced that the public is invited to the museum at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 18.

The Otis House is at 141 Cambridge St. in Boston. Refreshments will be served.

Robert J. Schwarz

Appointed To Post In Springfield

James E. Ellis, Executive Vice President of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce has announced that Robert J. Schwarz, Chamber staff executive, has resigned to accept a position with the Greater Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

Schwarz, who has been with the Lawrence Chamber since January of 1970, will assume the position of Manager of Program Development and Legislative Affairs with the Springfield Chamber.

An Andover native, Schwarz graduated from Brewster Academy and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in English from Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota. He has also completed four years of Institute for Organization Management program sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

While at the Lawrence Chamber, Schwarz served as Manager of the Andover Chamber of Commerce for three years and for the past year, managed the Chamber's JOBS Program and other related activities. He is a member of the Massachusetts, New England and American Associations of Chamber of Commerce Executives. He also serves as Treasurer of the Greater Lawrence Volunteer Inservice Program. He is a member of the Adult Basic Education Advisory Board and the Hamlet Health Club.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Forsythe McClung of North Andover. He and his wife make their home in Pelham, New Hampshire.

The new position will begin on December 31. The Executive Vice President of the Greater Springfield Chamber of Commerce is Paul J. Greeley, who served as Executive of the Lawrence Chamber from 1956 to 1961.

Seniors At Lasell

Susan Heidi Sodnowsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sodnowsky and Candee Lee Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Thomas, Jr., both of Andover, have returned to Lasell Junior College, Newton, as seniors.

Their class has 309 members.

Holiday Concerts By Society

The Handel and Haydn Society will present two concerts at Symphony Hall this December - one of them traditional, the other not so traditional.

The Society's annual performance of Messiah will take place this year on Friday, Dec. 7 and Sunday, Dec. 9. Both performances start at 8 p.m. sharp. Soloists are Barbara Wallace, soprano; Shirley Love, alto; Richard Shadley, tenor; and Ara Berberian, bass-baritone.

The Society will also give a New Year's Eve concert on Dec. 31 at Symphony Hall, followed by a party across the street at Horticultural Hall. For the concert, the featured works are Rossini's Petite Messe solennelle and Stravinsky's Les Noces (with ballet). For the party, the featured entertainment will be The Proposition - Boston's longest-running show.

Tickets for both events may be purchased from the Society's office, 140 Boylston Street, Boston 02116.

ZERO DEFECTS craftsmanship award presented to Joseph Glasser (left), Raytheon vice president and manager of manufacturing for company's Missile Systems Division, by Captain Melvin W. Harris, U.S. Navy, representing the U.S. Army Materiel Command. Award was given for significant performance by West Andover plant employees.

Top Award Presented Raytheon

The Andover plant of Raytheon Missile Systems Division has been awarded the Craftsmanship Award, highest award in the Department of Defense Zero Defects Program.

Vice President Joseph Glasser, manager of the Andover plant, was notified of the award in a letter from Lt. Gen. E.M. Flanagan, Jr., Comptroller of the Army.

In the letter, General Flanagan cited as "particularly noteworthy accomplishments" the employees' 97 per cent participation rate in the program and the reduction of defects in excess of the established goals.

"Please express my appreciation to the employees of the Andover plant," General Flanagan said, "for their continual support of the Department of the Army Zero Defects Program. Their efforts are truly commendable."

Presentation of the award took place during "Zero Defects Craftsmanship Day" at Andover.

Special events of the day included a roast beef dinner for all employees, complements of the management. The dinner was followed by the ceremony in which the award was presented by Capt. M.W. Harris, USN, Commander, Defense Contract Administration Services, Boston Region, and accepted by Mr. Glasser on behalf of the employees.

Earlier in the day, supervisors distributed souvenir pins engraved "Craftsmanship Award, 1973" to all employees whose efforts had contributed to the winning of the award. And coffee and cold drinks from the vending machines were free all day.

Recycling Program At Western

A program which could provide more than 60 tons of paper and corrugated per month for recycling is being started at Western Electric's Merrimack Valley Works. In addition to relieving the load on the local landfill, the program will assist in the conservation of natural resources and provide to paper mills waste paper which is presently in short supply.

As part of the company's concern with the growing list of shortages of our natural resources, it is instituting at its North Andover location a new system to recover waste paper for reuse in manufacturing paper. The process will include the segregation, compaction, and sale of mixed paper and corrugated material. This will reduce the quantity of waste now dumped at the local landfill, in addition to improving present rubbish-handling methods.

To implement this new procedure, a number of blue trash tubs throughout the manufacturing and merchandise buildings will be identified by signs for paper and corrugated only. Those tubs without signs will be primarily for material such as plastics, cans, glass, floor sweepings, etc. The present practice of breaking down all corrugated containers will continue.

Help make Christmas last all year -- give your friends U.S. Savings Bonds.

Completes Basic

Airman Steven H. Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruth L. Sobel of 137 Main St., North Andover, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi.

He recently completed six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Cunningham, a 1973 graduate of North Andover High School, has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Keesler for specialized training in the armament systems field.

The first BWL meeting of the season was held at West Jr. High School Monday, Nov. 19. Dr. Peter Price, coach of the BWL East Team, opened the meeting by introducing the BWL coaches and officers for the coming season.

Dr. Price outlined this year's race program, which starts with an invitational meet at the Highlands in January and ends with the Eastern Championship at King Ridge in New London, N.H. The problem of possible transportation difficulties arose and it was strongly suggested that racers and their parents discuss possible pooling arrangements to transport the children to the various meets.

Dr. Price announced the decision of the local BWL to allow 14 and 15-year-old racers to earn team points. In the past this age group was allowed to compete unofficially in BWL meets. They earned place ribbons but their points were not considered in calculating team scores.

Head coach Ted Sutton lectured the skiers on the various types of new ski equipment available. He pointed out features of skis and bindings to look for in selecting equipment. He placed much emphasis on the importance of proper ski equipment in obtaining maximum performance in racing.

The next BWL meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 10, at the Senior High School auditorium starting at 7 p.m. A team picture will be taken, and appropriate dress for the picture will be either a white shirt of turtleneck jersey and a ski sweater. Also at this meeting Ted Sutton will show a movie on ski racing.

The team held a pre-season conditioning session at the West Jr. High playing field last Sunday under the direction of Coach Ted Sutton, who was assisted by Tom Heislein, Mike Smotrich, Ed Hostetter and Carrie Smotrich. The Sunday practice featured an intramural soccer match. The next dry land practice session will be held at the West Jr. High playing field Sunday, Dec. 9 from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Racers must send their registration in before Dec. 15. Registration forms are available at all meetings and at Dana's Sporting Goods Shop. Racers are also encouraged to bring their friends to dry land practices as well as to the BWL meetings, so all children can have the opportunity to take part in team ski racing.

The granddaddy of all hats was probably the fillet, a band tied around the head to keep the hair in place. It was worn in ancient times; turbans and crowns developed from it; and today it survives as the band on our hats.

West Parish Hoop Team Posts Wins

The West Parish basketball team, which will compete in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League this winter, has posted a 2-1 record thus far in the Lawrence Jewish Community Center League.

The second-place West Parish team opened the season with a 20-3 victory over the St. Lawrence Falcons.

Guard Chris Doherty led all scorers in the game with 12 points, while Billy Hall pumped in 6 points and Steve Doherty added 2 markers.

Also playing well for the winners were Jim Stamas, Bruce Belbin, Mike McDonald and Phil Harnden.

West Parish ran into a buzzsaw in the second game, dropping a 24-5 decision to the undefeated (3-0) Bruce School team of Lawrence.

Billy Hall canned 3 points and Chris Doherty added a fourth quarter lay-up for West Parish, which held the winners well below their 50 point per game average.

West Parish bounced back into the victory column this week with a lopsided 28-1 conquest of the winless St. Lawrence Eagles.

Billy Hall paced the offensive attack with 12 points. Dave Nar-done fired through 8 points, while Chris Doherty netted 3 points and single buckets were scored by Bruce Belbin and Steve Doherty.

West Parish, which will play a 15-game league schedule followed by playoffs, returns to action next week against the J.C.C. quintet.

Outing Club Is Formed

The Recreation/Community Schools Department has formed an Outing Club. The club is open to all secondary students and members of the adult community who are interested in the outdoors. The club will offer such activities as mountain climbing, snowshoeing, cross country skiing and canoeing.

All people interested in such a club, please attend the second meeting scheduled for Monday, Dec. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Large Group room at Andover High School.

Junior Garden Club To Meet

The Andover Junior Garden Club will have its monthly meeting this Saturday, Dec. 1 at 10 a.m. at the Bay State National Bank.

Members are requested to wear play clothes. They are going to make resin discs, after which there will be a Christmas party.

The proportion of women between 55 and 64 years of age in the labor force rose from 27 per cent in 1950 to 43 per cent in 1971, the Census Bureau reports. The ratio for women over the age of 65 was approximately one in 10 -- the same as in 1950.

Beacon Hill Observations

By Bill Kirtz

The state's Civil Liberties Union, in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court's reaffirmation this month of its decision that "contemporary community standards" should determine what's fit to see or read, says it will help fight too-vague local obscenity regulations.

"Why not?" says CLU staff attorney Matt Feinberg, who calls it "absurdly un-Constitutional to ban things as you see fit."

Mr. Feinberg sees the greatest danger of over-censorship coming in small communities. When an anti-obscenity statute is vague, when a film is censored in advance, or when a book is prohibited for school use -- all these are instances in which the CLU will file a brief if it's asked to.

Many have called the high court's "community standard" guideline too vague to start out with. The Town of Danvers this month adopted a by-law which would let police confiscate material "repulsive to the morals, health and welfare of the town."

But just what, say critics, is this supposed to mean? One person might find "Playboy" repulsive but another may be more offended by "Ms."

The CLU's position is that no material, however gross, can be confiscated without legal proceedings which establish their obscenity. Therefore, proposals made in some Massachusetts communities to ban the showing of X-rated films aren't legal, says the CLU, because there can be no prior restraint on First Amendment guarantees of free expression.

The idea behind the Supreme Court's ruling is that each locality should decide what offends it.

But a recent survey in Alexandria, Virginia, suggests that this decision might not be an easy one.

Of 200 adults polled at random, 61 per cent feel there are no easily-determined "community standards" in this matter and 65 per cent feel there should be no ban on pornography or no ban for adults in their town. And two-thirds of those polled in that southern city don't feel there's a need for any "crackdown on obscenity."

If there are to be obscenity regulations, how best to enforce them?

About 40 per cent of the Virginians polled favor es-establishing a board of local citizens to determine what to ban. Closer to home, in Danvers, a Town Meeting next month will consider whether to let its police officials confiscate offensive material and arrest the distributor. Eventually, says the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union, a jury determines what's obscene. The only cases the CLU has heard of in these parts have been Boston drives to close down "stag movie" offerings.

Mr. Feinberg, though, is adamant in opposing any local moves against banning something before it's even shown: "You can't do these things by tradition."

Comet Kohoutek which will appear in the next few weeks, is expected to rival Halley's and become the brightest comet of our lifetime. Kohoutek can be seen one hour before sunrise in mid-December just above the south-east horizon. It will be even a brighter object in the evening sky between January 7 and 20, one hour after sunset above the west-southwest horizon.

Rev. Hartland H. Gifford

To Observe Anniversary Of Church

On Sunday, Dec. 2, members and friends of Faith Lutheran Church will gather at a 10 o'clock festive Communion Service to celebrate Faith's tenth anniversary.

In honor of the occasion the Rev. Hartland H. Gifford, first pastor of the congregation will return as guest preacher. Rev. Gifford and his family now reside in Philadelphia where he works for the Division for Parish Services, Lutheran Church of America.

Other dignitaries who will be participating in the service will be: Liturgist; the Rev. Frederick G. Wedemeyer, Regional Secretary of the Division of Mission in North America; Celebrant, the Rev. Paul D. Kennedy, Asst. to the President, New England Synod LCA; administering Communion to the congregation will be Rev. Mr. Gifford and the Rev. Donald B. Myrom, present pastor of the church.

Following the service at 12:30 p.m. at the Pike School, where the congregation first held its worship services, a banquet will be held. Members of the congregation will be providing the food. A program of "Reflections and Expectations" will be moderated by U.S. Berger. Special recognition will be given to the charter members.

Preparations for the anniversary have been co-ordinated by Daniel Thoren, Vice-Chairman of the congregation. Other members of the committee include: Mrs. Daniel Thoren, Mr. and Mrs. U.S. Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clendaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gordon Edgar, the Rev. Donald Myrom, Mrs. Mildred Krause and Mrs. C. Henry Anderson.

Music Festival To Honor Golden Agers

A music festival honoring "golden agers" will be held Sunday, Dec. 9, at 2 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, 483 Lowell St., Lawrence.

All senior citizens and their friends are invited.

Refreshments will be served.

The program is being presented through the courtesy of the Lawrence Musicians Union, and Ralph Barbagallo, president. The orchestra will be conducted by Henry Blake and the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel will act as hosts.

Indian Guides Program

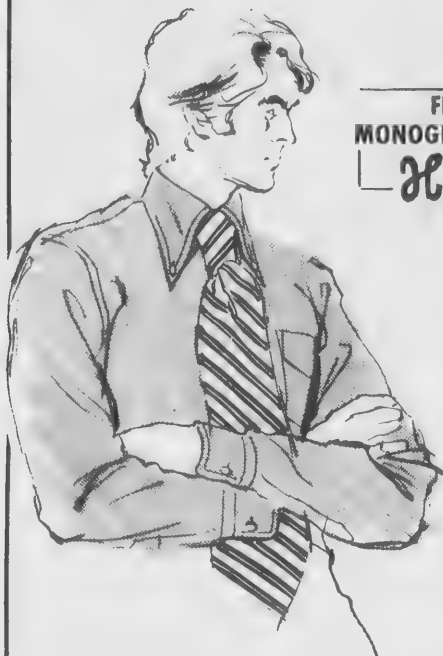

The Andover-North Andover YMCA is participating in a promotion of YMCA Indian Guides program being conducted by the Greater Lawrence YMCA.

The Indian Guides program is spreading rapidly across the country and is open to boys 6-9 years of age or grades 1-3. Boys and their fathers are formed into tribal units for programs developed around Indian Lore. In these days when father-son relationships are considered to be in need of strengthening, this program has fitted the needs of many.

At this time four tribes are functioning in the Greater Lawrence area, including one in North Andover. Questions may be addressed to Lawrence YMCA Youth Director Ted Pickard. Interested fathers and sons from Andover and North Andover are invited to attend a meeting which will be held on Monday, Dec. 3, 7:30 p.m. at the North Andover YMCA building, 33 Johnson St. (Community Center).

People who jump at conclusions are usually easily floored under cross examination.

Unemployment Rate Unchanged

The unemployment rate for adult women in August remained at 4.9 per cent -- unchanged from the June and July levels, the Labor Department reports. Adult men registered an unemployment rate of 3.1 per cent for the month -- an increase of 0.1 per cent over the July level. Unemployment rates for adult women and men were 4.7 and 3.4, respectively, for the second quarter of this year, compared with rates of 5.5 per cent and 4.1 per cent for the same period in 1972.

Selectmen Commend Hurrell

Rep. James P. Hurrell was commended by the Andover board of selectmen for his stand on the recent compulsory arbitration in collective bargaining procedures for police and firefighters.

Hurrell cast a vote to uphold Gov. Sargent's veto over strong pressures from firefighters and police groups.

Chairman Roger W. Collins was joined by his colleagues in issuing the commendation to Hurrell and the appreciation of the town for his action.

Finance Committee Chairman Frank Byrne who was in attendance at the meeting was in accord and referred to Hurrell's vote as "an act of political courage."

Grants For Historic Sites Obtained

Congressman Paul Cronin (R-Mass) announced today that the Interior Department has awarded $575,250 in federal historic preservation grants to Massachusetts. The money, which is allocated under the Historic Preservation Act of 1966, will support ongoing programs and Bicentennial projects. The Massachusetts allocation represents the single largest amount for any one state.

Cronin, who sits on the Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation of the House Interior Committee, explained that the current allocation marks a departure from past policy. "Prior to this year," Cronin stated, "Historic preservation grants were awarded on a project, rather than a program, basis. This new procedure will give each state far greater flexibility in planning for historic preservation."

Historic preservation grants are administered for the Department of Interior by the National Park Service. Grants to the states and territories assist historic preservation surveys and plans, as well as public and private efforts to acquire and develop properties listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Cronin indicated that among the Fifth District historic locations which are presently being considered by the Massachusetts Historic Commission for possible funding are: Buckman Tavern in Lexington; Job Lane House in Bedford; and Old Chelmsford Garrison House in Chelmsford. "The final decision of the Commission with regard to funding should be forthcoming by mid-December," Cronin stated. "I am hopeful that the Commission will give every consideration to the historic landmarks of the Fifth District."

Beacon Hill Mansions Open Tour

"Christmas on Beacon Hill," as it was in the early 1800's, will be the theme of a three-day open house at the Twin Federal mansions, 39 and 40 Beacon St., Dec. 8 to 10.

Home and Garden Guild of Massachusetts is sponsoring the tours, along with the Women's City Club of Boston, which owns the unique double mansions overlooking Boston Common. The public is invited to peek at Christmastime during the early years of the nation, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the three days.

In the formal ballroom, tables holding holly-wrapped ormulu and onyx candelabra, will be skirted in gold and ivory brocade with Georgian swags. Fresh boxwood wreaths will hang from velvet streamers in all the windows and reflect in the huge, 12-foot mirrors across the room. At the end of the room, which is filled with Hepplewhite and Sheraton furniture, two giant arrangements in white, yellow and apricot, will flank the fireplace. A large Rose Medallion bowl will hold magnolia glandiflora, and at the doors will stand two magnificent topiary trees in gilded urns, on Chinos Chinoiserie cabinets with black marble tops.

Chopin, Mozart and Bach will play in the adjoining music room, where vertical garlands will hang from ceiling to the marble-topped mantle.

The old kitchen will be filled with the fragrance of herbs and holiday cookies being prepared in the massive open fireplace. Punch will be served nearby. The gentlemen's study will also be open, with its old leather books, antique ivory chess set, and specimen plants.

A 12-foot Christmas tree can be seen from any angle as it rises through the spiralled, garlanded stairway at 40 Beacon, covered with hundreds of crystal prisms, but no lights, as in years gone by. The doorway will bear a simple welcoming wreath, flanked by classic English urns with white cyclamen and English ivy.

Artistic director for the event is Kenn Stephens of Westwood, flower arranger, lecturer and president of the Home and Garden Guild of Massachusetts.

Tickets for the tour are available from Mrs. Anthony Sakowich, Oriole Road, Andover, or through the Women's City Club, 40 Beacon St., Boston.

Named Wildflowers

By Wayne Hanley

Fred Pursh named the state flowers of Montana and Idaho without ever traveling west of Pennsylvania.

In fact, Pursh confined most of his American roamings in the early 1800's to Maryland, North Carolina, New York and Vermont.

INTEREST in the arrival of Santa Claus in the annual parade held in North Andover Saturday afternoon is shown on the face of Michael Deyermund, 27 Parker St., North Andover.

Yet, when one thumbs through a botany of the Far West -- and particularly when scanning the list of wild flowers of the high Rockies -- one finds Pursh credited with giving the scientific names to an amazing number. That's because Pursh was in the right place at the right time. Not in the Rockies, but in Washington, D.C. When Meriwether Lewis and William Clark returned from their trip up the Missouri and across the Rockies to the Pacific, the bales of plants they had collected were given to Pursh for classification.

Although he may sound so within the present context, Pursh was not a drawing room botanist. He got around and made discoveries on his own, among them the hart's-tongue fern, one of America's rarer plants.

The prevalence of Pursh among the pages became apparent recently as we gave one hand to a Rocky Mountain flower field guide and the other to a saddle horn. It was on a trail ride through the Bitterroot - Selway Wilderness of Montana and Idaho, just below Lolo Pass where Lewis and Clark had a tough time on horseback. It was botanizing under discouraging conditions. If one sees a flower and stops, the horse promptly eats it. Pursh was lucky to be well removed from the scene.

Among the flowers named by Pursh, the most famous perhaps is the bitterroot. You may think of it as a compound crocus. It is among the mystical flowers which first spreads a basal rosette of leaves, then appears to die. Next, up pop the flowers, leafless and giving the impression that the earth itself is blooming. Pursh named it Lewisia rediviva in honor of Meriwether Lewis, and Montana adopted it as a state flower.

Less spectacular is Philadelphus lewisii, a hydrangea of the mountains, which Pursh named also for Lewis and Idaho adopted as a state flower.

It sounds as though Clark drew the short stick. But Pursh named a good blossom for him: Clarkia pulchella, a pink evening primrose that resembles a beautiful fireweed. Pursh himself had to wait for a reclassification before being honored by a plant name of the Rockies. Augustin DeCandolle is giving a new scientific name to the bitterbrush named it Purshia tridentata.

Pursh's name hardly a household word today. But in his day, he was among the more learned botanists in North America. Born Friedrich Traugott Pursh, he graduated from the Royal Botanical Garden at Dresden, Germany, and emigrated to America in 1799 at the age of 25. In the New World his name lost its Germanic spelling. In 1814 he published the first important botanical catalogue which attempted to list all American flora north of Mexico. Six years later he died in Montreal.

W. Clare Brooks Chosen Chairman Of Trustees

The 98th Annual Meeting of the Corporation of Lawrence General Hospital was held in the hospital's Kurth Auditorium at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 27.

W. Clare Brooks was elected to succeed Dean K. Webster, Jr., as Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Webster will continue to serve the hospital as a Trustee and a Member of the Executive Committee.

Brooks, who was General Manager of the Merrimack Valley plant of Western Electric from 1958 until his retirement in 1964, has served as a Trustee at Lawrence General since 1963 and was elected Vice-President in 1964. Mr. Brooks now moves up from his current position of Vice-Chairman to Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

B. Allen Rowland, who has been the Chairman of the Executive Committee, was elected Vice Chairman of the Board.

Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, Mrs. James K. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. A. Murray Howe, Mrs. John T. Morehouse and Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson retired as Trustees. Each of them was presented a suitably inscribed scroll in recognition of their past services to the hospital.

Each of the retiring Trustees was elected an Honorary Trustee.

John R. Oxley of the Gillette Company and Jason Wright of the Raytheon Company were elected Corporators.

Officers of the Corporation elected were: President, R. Ashton Smith, Vice President, Alton W. Noyes and Treasurer, Thomas F. Clancy.

Herbert J. Hatem, M.D., President of the Medical Staff, reported on the affairs and activities of the Medical Staff during the past fiscal year.

Robert E. Dippold, A.C.S.W., Director of the Social Service Department, gave a brief talk on "Social Service at Lawrence General Hospital."

The assembled Trustees, Corporators and Department Heads heard reports from all Standing and Special Committees of the Board of Trustees.

The Invocation was given by Father William J. Donnelly and the Benediction by Rev. Bruce O. Brewer, the two Chaplains at Lawrence General Hospital.

Leadership Conference Scheduled

Seventy-five Chamber of Commerce community leaders, representing Chambers from the Merrimack Valley and North Shore area, will attend a special Leadership Conference on Thursday, Nov. 29, at the Western Electric Company's Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover. The Conference is co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the Massachusetts Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives.

Milton O. Fletcher of the U.S. Chamber's staff in Washington, D.C., will be the featured speaker for the day long conference, which will include discussions of local Chamber organization, financing, program promotion and the role of volunteer leaders.

Following lunch, a keynote address will be delivered by George Athanson, Mayor of the city of Hartford, Connecticut, who is recognized nationally as one of the leading government figures involved in community development.

David L. Hilder, Manager of the Merrimack Valley Works, will welcome the visiting Chamber officials to the conference which begins at 9:30 a.m. Robert F. Hatem, Vice President for Development at Merrimack College and a Lawrence Chamber Vice President, will preside at one of the afternoon sessions.

Chamber leaders attending from Lawrence are William E. Banton, George B. Stern, John J. Weir, Raymond A. Clayton and Paul L. Drolet.

Chambers of Commerce participating in the Leadership Conference include: Cambridge, Chelsea, Danvers, Beverly, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, Malden, Watertown, Gloucester, Newburyport, and Salem.

In March 1972, there were 4.2 million women of minority races in the work force, the Women's Bureau reports. Fifty-two per cent were single, widowed, divorced or separated from their husbands and 16 per cent were wives whose husbands had 1971 incomes of below $5,000.

Bowl Bound Golden Warriors

ANDOVER HIGH'S GOLDEN WARRIORS will be meeting Catholic Memorial Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Boston University field. The team completed their season Thanksgiving Day with a 21-14 win over Central Catholic in a real thriller. The Warriors will go into the Sunday playoff tilt minus the services of Co-

Captain Ray Pizarro who was injured. In the game last Thursday, Mark Sweetser scored twice and tossed a pass to Bill Alexander for a third score, while Peter Reilly made the conversions. Sunday's contest will be the first time Andover has appeared in the state post-season bowl game.

ON THE MOVE Glenn Verrette moves for some yardage in last Thursday's 21-14 win over Central Catholic at Memorial Stadium, Lawrence.

Christmas Program At Museum

Was the original Christmas star a comet?

Some astronomers theorize that it could have been. Others advance different explanations for the celestial light that heralded the Nativity. This year's Christmas program at the Charles Hayden Planetarium, Museum of Science, offers a visual discussion of these various hypotheses.

If that bright beacon was an astronomical phenomenon, it might have been a planet of unusual brilliance, the product of a meteor shower, a supernova, or a great comet. The Christmas Planetarium program, "Bethlehem Star Over Boston," gives Museum visitors a chance to weigh the evidence supporting each of these intriguing possibilities.

The Planetarium projector rolls back the centuries to show the sky as it appeared between 4 and 6 b.c. A comparison of the original Christmas sky to this year's winter sky points up similarities that could be clues to the nature of the Bethlehem star.

If the Christmas star was a great comet, it could have been similar to Comet Kohoutek, predicted to illuminate the January night sky this winter. Visitors will learn where and when to look for the Comet so that they may witness this celestial event themselves.

The other traditional Christmas vision in the sky, Santa and his reindeer making their yearly rounds, will not be overlooked in the Planetarium program, and special holiday treats will include a visit to the North Pole.

"Bethlehem Star Over Boston" will be given daily from Dec. 4 through Dec. 30. As with all Planetarium programs, there is a 50 cent entrance fee in addition to Museum admission.

Former Principal Is Author

Another book by Dr. Evelyn I. Banning, principal of Andover Junior High School in 1942-43, has just been published by the Vanguard Press in New York. The book, "Helen Hunt Jackson," is the story of the author of "Ramona," and includes considerable information about Emily Dickinson, her childhood friend in Amherst.

Dr. Banning's first book was "Mary Lyon of Putnam's Hill," written while she was teaching and chairing the Department of Psychology and Education at Wheaton College.

The Egyptians believed that every day the sun sailed across the sky in his boat. Every night, he disappeared into the underworld in the west. In the underworld was another Nile River. The ruler of the underworld had the sun's boat pulled along this river until at last it crossed the horizon and rose again.

Regionally

The selectmen, from what we can observe, seem to be moving in a proper direction in considering regional problems.

Their so-called policy, issued this week, is aimed at having the town's elective body somewhat responsible for Andover participation in regional deliberations and actions.

While the policy statement does not carry the air of complete authority, it does point the thrust of future regional considerations in a proper direction.

At odds apparently for some time, has been the town's active participating in the Central Merrimack Valley Regional Planning Commission. A planning board representative has carried the town's vote on that board, with a selectman serving an non-voting alternate.

It now appears that any official action taken by an Andover representative to that board, must have been discussed with the selectmen and administrators, and the voting delegate instructed as to the administrative feelings on particular matters.

If nothing else, the policy seems to recognize that more equitable solutions to major community problems are now best served by being met on a regional basis, rather than individually.

A year ago, at which time regionalism was an issue in Andover, we editorially advised the town's administrators to be cognizant of the regional approach.

The creeping wave of regional solution to problems was such then and continues to be a threat to loss of individuality by a community.

But, properly handled, the meeting of area officials to solve such matters as solid waste, pollution abatement, transportation, and similar major expenditure items, is the wisest and most economical manner to resolve such problems.

If the intent of the selectmen is to place on regional boards or committees, members or delegates to have an authoritative voice, to make Andover heard, then their policy seems wise and advisable.

We are somewhat heartened in the knowledge that the board truly recognizes that the age of regionalism is factually upon us.

Energy Crisis?

While admitting there is an energy crisis of sorts with regard to fuel, etc. we must readily recognize that still among us are youthful jerks with energy to burn.

In past years, at Christmas time, as residents in Andover and other communities put up holiday decorations, these youths, practiced their destructive arts by stealing colored lights from outdoor displays.

Having stolen the lamps, they then proceeded to do something "sensible," in their minds, by smashing them to bits on nearby streets and sidewalks.

Other acts of vandalism resulted in recent years in the curtailing of outdoor displays. This year, of course, there will be little or none of the Christmas glow due to the energy crisis.

But, our youthful offenders have already, apparently, decided upon a target for their nonsensical holiday escapades.

This past week a Christmas wreath or two were stolen from a store and a residence in town.

There is only one way to describe such acts of vandalism and thievery - sheer stupidity.

Hopefully, these preliminary acts by those in our community bent on destruction, will serve notice to residents and officials alike to be aware of the matter.

Also, with such awareness, it will not dampen the already limited display of Christmas spirit this year.

Good Luck

Andover can well be proud this week of its Golden Warriors football team.

Winners of the Merrimack Valley Conference title, the team finished off the season last Thursday with a Thanksgiving Day win over Central Catholic to complete an undefeated year and extend its win streak to 17 regular season games over a two-year span.

Now, the team prepares for a playoff bowl game on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Boston University field against a strong Catholic Memorial team.

This is a well-coached, well-drilled team that will be going into Andover's first post-season bowl confrontation, and will be doing so without Co-Captain Ray Pizarro, a stalwart defensive performer all year for the Warriors.

But the loss of this vital member of the team may be just the fodder needed to spur the Andover gridders to even greater heights.

Regardless of Sunday's outcome, we certainly are proud of the team and its accomplishments.

While winning is always the ultimate in any type of competition, we feel particularly proud of this edition of the Golden Warriors, in view of not just their record but their exemplary sportsmanship displayed in every game.

This, of course, comes from the leadership of Coach Dick Collins and his staff.

To Collins and his Golden Warriors our congratulations for a great season and best wishes in pursuit of further accomplishments on Sunday in the playoff bowl at B.U. field.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Stevens Mills of North Andover is rapidly becoming an unsightly mess.

Lately, the parking lots have become gathering places with barrels overturned and litter strewn about.

Most noticeable now, as time goes by, are the increasing number of broken windows throughout all of the mill buildings now idle for a number of years.

A report from Vermont this week causes more than normal concern about the energy crisis.

A resident there went to obtain some replacements for his bathroom and was informed that due to the fuel shortage the kilns were turned off and no more "crockery" was being made for several weeks.

And they laugh at those half moon doors!

Trash is a profitable business.

SCA Services, Inc., of Boston, which was one of the bidders on the Andover refuse pickup program this year, recently reported new income and revenues for the first quarter were up 28 and 24 per cent over a year ago.

The firm is in the process of developing a method of converting solid waste into a fossil fuel substitute for utilities.

An irate taxpayer called the League of Women Voter Information Phone to ask why localities have no say in how the county spends money, though all the bills for county government are paid by the local property tax.

The Voter Information Phone reported that for the first time localities may be coming closer to having some say in the county budget. A bill passed this session to allow the establishment of county advisory boards made up of an official from each city and town in the county to review the county budget before its submission to the legislature.

All sections giving the boards veto power over county budgets were removed by the state legislature and only provisions for structuring the boards and for their making recommendations remain. This is a very small step toward some local input.

This question is one of the many now being received by the League of Women Voters Voter Information Phone. Individuals with any questions on government may call the VIP phone Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The number in the Boston area is 357-5880. Outside the Boston metropolitan area callers should dial the toll-free number 1-800-822-1649.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has inaugurated a nationwide toy safety campaign to get banned toys off store shelves and inform consumers about possible hazards associated with toys.

Each year, an estimated 132,000 toy-related injuries warrant medical treatment in hospital emergency rooms.

Seventy to 80 per cent of toy sales occur in October, November and December during which time the Commission is focusing attention on toy safety.

To assist consumers in identifying dangerous toys and encourage the purchase of safe toys, the Commission has designated toy safety coordinators in each of its 14 regional offices. Toy coordinators are available to answer consumer inquiries and to address community organizations concerned about toy safety.

Radio and television public service announcements in both English and Spanish and posters in U.S. Post Offices are being used to inform the public about dangers present in some toys. A color and sound film, "Can You Pass the Toy Safety Test," will be available to local groups through CPSC regional offices.

Winterizing broadleaf and narrowleaf evergreens reduces winter injury. Dieback or browning of tips and branches of evergreens results when roots in frozen soil cannot replace moisture lost through needles to high drying winter winds, says R. A. Bartlett.

Mulches three to six inches deep are helpful. These should be applied after the first frost. Mulches reduce fluctuating temperatures that lead to winter kill and also conserve soil moisture.

Spraying broadleaf evergreens with an anti-desiccant compound will cut down loss of moisture during the winter.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - November, 1898

With the prediction of 27 snow storms this winter, based on the fact the first fell on Nov. 27, we surmise that the other 26 will be more sparing. The heavy storm caused several cancellations and delayed trains for several hours, most people being caught by surprise.

Police Chief Dane has issued warning on all night parking and also on removing boats from Haggetts pond which he says will be auctioned if not out of the water by Saturday.

10 Years Ago - November, 1963

The school committee has rejected the idea of acquiring the three residential properties adjacent to the Central school property on Whittier Street.

Named to the Secondary school building study committee are Benjamin O. Chase, C. Lincoln Giles, Walter N. Webster, Frederick J. Higgins, Mrs. Dudley Fitts, William N. Moriarty and Robert B. McIntyre.

At an initial meeting of the Recreation Council, representatives of 25 local organizations offered assistance in development of a town program using the Recreation park facilities.

Local Priest Is "Don Quixote"

The Rev. Jon Martin of St. Robert Bellarmine Parish, West Andover, starred as Don Quixote in last Sunday's production of "Man of La Mancha," on WBZ-TV. He was assisted by parishoners of St. Robert's and St. Michael's, in Lowell, in the shortened version of the Broadway Play, produced by the Boston Catholic TV Center.

Father Martin and the Rev.

Francis T. McFarland of Newton, the program's host, chatted between numbers in an attempt to give a religious dimension along the theme "Jesus is alive," to the show's songs.

Father Martin, ordained in 1965, has directed many parish and civic productions which have been seen in the Boston Diocese and parts of New Hampshire. The theatre groups have appeared on TV several times. Each fall they visit rest homes and each summer, they sponsor shows for exceptional children. They have also given many concerts and cut three records.

This was also believed to have been the first instance in Boston where a diocesan priest played a starring role in a TV show. Father Martin was recently named "Man of the Year" in Lowell.

Group Tours Museum

Members of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts from the Greater Lawrence area, spent an enjoyable and instructive day at the Museum recently.

One group toured the Egyptian Collection with Dows Dunham, Curator Emeritus, while the other group toured the Print Galleries with Mrs. Stephanie Stepanek, Assistant in the Department of Prints and Drawings. These ladies had a tour of the Print Study room where research and cataloging is done and of the Audubon Collection at the Museum. Francis Dolloff, Conservator of Prints and Drawings gave an informative and most interesting slide presentation of the methods used to restore damaged prints and drawings.

These tours have been arranged by the Ladies Committee of the Museum and are presented several times a year. Those wishing to join the Museum and be a part of this group should contact Mrs. John McArdle or Mrs. James Grew.

Annual Christmas Concert At Academy

The Music Department of Phillips Academy, Andover, presents its annual Christmas Concert Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. in George Washington Hall. Performers include The Concert Band, The Fidelio Society, dancers and piano soloist. William B. Clift, Jr. and James Harwood are co-conductors of the band. Christine Johnston directs the Fidelio Society, a singing group of mixed voices selected from The Chorus. The singers will be joined by the dancers of Christina Rubio's ballet class in two of their selections.

William Cunliffe, V, '74 of Andover is the piano soloist with the Concert Band in Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue". He has been a student of Albion Metcalf's for 3 years at Phillips, chorus accompanist for the past three years and accompanist for the Spring Musical. William has appeared as featured soloist at The Methuen Memorial Music Hall.

The Fidelio Society will sing French, English, and Spanish carols: "There is No Rose" by Benjamin Britten, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" arranged by Wilcocks and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" arranged by Warrell. The dancers will join them on "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence" arranged by Holst and "Riu, Riu Chui", a 16th century Spanish villancico. Christopher Maietta, '74 of Andover, is the baritone soloist.

The band selections include a variety of works by Bach, Grainger, Fischer, Anderson and Gershwin. Two of the pieces will be performed by a select instrumentation. This is a wind ensemble concept which allows the wind player the freedom of being the only one on a specific part. This is also very challenging to the individual player.

The band will perform the Prelude and Fugue in D Minor by Bach. This transcription from Bach's Little Preludes and Fugues is by Moehmann. This piece explores the various tone colors of the ensemble and gives an organ like sound to the concert band.

The traditional Christmas selections include Brazilian Sleigh Bells and Christmas Festival which contains various carols: Jingle Bells, Silent Night, O Come All Ye Faithful, Deck the Halls, Good King Wenceslas and Hark the Herald Angles Sing. The public is invited to attend and there is no admission charge.

MVACLD To Conduct Workshop

The public is welcome to this season's third lecture-workshop of the Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities which offers two outstanding speakers for its Monday, Dec. 10 meeting.

"Behavior Modification" will be the subject covered by Dr. Morris Newman, "Outreach Training Specialist" and Miss Ann Lordman, "Family Training Coordinator". Both are on the faculty of the Spaulding Youth Center, Tilton, N.H. Their talk will cover the following outline: (1) a general introduction to "behavior modification", (2) a slide-tape description of REMOLD - a three year program to train teachers in public schools to deal with learning disabilities and other problems, and (3) Techniques for parents to use with their own children. There will be a period for the audience to question the speakers.

Association president Thomas Kelly, Jr. requests that those attending be on hand for the meeting to start promptly at 7:45 p.m., 15 minutes earlier than usual, so that all of the subjects can be fully covered. The meeting will be at the Ballard Vale United Church, Hall Avenue and Clark Road, Andover. Those attending from out of town should leave Route 93 at exit 30 (Dascomb Road) and go east to Clark Road.

The usual refreshments and coffee will follow the workshop session during which those attending will have an opportunity to talk with the speakers and others who have had experience in dealing with L.D. problems. Members of the MVACLD Board will be on hand, wearing badges, to help any individuals who have L.D. problems and who need help. These Board members are equipped to help parents find the help they need and on a continuing basis.

Again a reminder of the Christmas party to be held at the James F. Hennessey School, Hancock St., Lawrence from 2-4 p.m. on Dec. 2. There will be Santa, gifts, prizes, ice cream, apples, entertainment, games for the children. Refreshments for the adults. It's a family party.

November Club Meets On Monday

The November Club will meet at 1:30 in the afternoon on Dec. 3 at the Club House, 6 Locke St., Andover.

There will be vocal and instrumental music by the faculty members of the Community Music Center of Boston presented by Miss Susan P. Hill, their Executive Director.

Greeting the members as they arrive will be Miss Ethel H. Tewksbury and Miss Helen S. Tewksbury.

Pouring at the tea table, the centerpiece of which is to be arranged by Mrs. Preston L. Blake, will be Mrs. Dixon B. Penick and Mrs. Ralph E. Preble, Jr.

Emperor Paul of Russia forbade his subjects to wear cornered hats under pain of flogging or banishment.

BETH SEZ: "Dear Greater Lawrence Ladies"

"Dear Greater-Lawrence Ladies," "Thanks to you, the first few months at Budget-Decorating Shoppe have been very successful. This success has prompted the hiring of another qualified interior-decorator."

It is my pleasure to introduce Miss Bonnie Merlau - a graduate of Chamberlayne Junior College, majoring in residential and commercial interior-design. Miss Merlau will be available in the shoppe, free of charge, for small-project consultations from 9:00 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. four days a week and 11:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. one day a week.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank those of you who have visited Budget-Decorating Shoppe and made use of its many services. At the same time I'd like to invite all other area ladies to drop in at Ed Samra's Complete Home-Decorating Center, 111 South Broadway, Lawrence (across from St. Patrick's Church), so that we may have the opportunity to help you, too, with all your decorating needs!

ON EXHIBIT, "Eight Bells," the work of Winslow Homer is currently on exhibit at Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy.

Exhibits At Gallery

Photographs by Roy di Tosti and Stephen Smith will be on display at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Andover, through Dec. 23.

Roy di Tosti received his M.F.A. from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1970, and is currently teaching photography at the Massachusetts College of Art in Boston. His work has been exhibited at the Rhode Island Museum of Art; in Lexington, Kentucky, and at several galleries and museums in the Boston area: the DeCordova Museum; the Hayden Gallery at M.I.T.; the Boston Film Center; the Zone V Gallery; the Boston Center for The Arts; and Boston University.

Stephen Smith graduated from the San Francisco Art Institute in 1970, and subsequently spent two years in Europe where he was involved in both still photography and filmmaking. Last year he travelled to Korea in December, and returned to the United States in January to teach photography at Hampshire College. He is currently living in San Francisco.

Works of Art by Winslow Homer from the Collection of the Addison Gallery of American Art: "Eight Bells" and "Kissing The Moon" are centerpieces for the show, as well as 11 watercolors, 9 drawings and 4 lightographs of Civil War scenes. Nine wood engravings which were published in Harper's Weekly will also be shown. A unique painting of a seascape on a tile, made while the artist was a member of the Tile Club in New York City, is an unusual addition to this group of works by America's most famous 19th century artist. Homer's development from a free-lance illustrator to a mature painter is well-documented in this display. His choice of scenes around him for subject matter gives a glimpse into life in this country a century ago. The exhibit will continue through Dec. 16.

The Addison Gallery, on the campus of Phillips Academy, is open free to the public from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; and on Sundays from 2:30 - 5 p.m.

Garden Club Federation Plans Holiday Concert

A benefit holiday concert, "Yuletide Concert", is being sponsored by the Northern District of the Garden Club Federation of Mass. on Sunday, Dec. 9, at 4 p.m. at the Methuen Music Hall on Broadway in Methuen. The 29 member garden clubs have been raising funds to landscape the grounds of this historic building.

The initial planting was done this past spring and an additional planting was made this fall of a living memorial to Mrs. Raymond H. Thompson of Topsfield, past District Chairman and dedicated garden club member. Mrs. Thompson was actively engaged in the landscaping of the Music Hall. Proceeds from this concert will aid in the completion of this project.

Mr. Leonard Bearse of Amesbury will be organist and concert director for the "Yuletide Concert." Mr. John D. Reid of Pittsfield will be trumpet soloist.

The program will include several selections by the Ecumenical Choir of sixty voices and carol singing with audience participation.

The public is invited to enjoy this fine concert and can obtain tickets from any Northern District garden club president, or purchase tickets at the door on the day of the concert.

For those who are not familiar with the Methuen Music Hall, it's history is long and interesting.

It is probably the only instance in our history in which a hall of such proportions and magnificence has been built on the sole purpose of housing an organ.

The Great Organ was purchased by the people of Boston through public subscription and the instrument, one of the largest in the world, was placed in the Boston Music Hall and opened to the public on Nov. 2, 1863. Five years were needed by the B.F. Walcker Co. of Ludwigs, Germany to build the huge organ which is 60 feet tall, 40 feet wide and contains 5616 pipes at a cost of $60,000. The case, made of American walnut, is the work of the Herter brothers of N.Y.

forbearers of the former Mass. Governor, Christian A. Herter. The 3 groups of figures which surmount the central portion of the case were carved at the Royal Academy of Art in Stuttgart, Germany.

Following the death of Mr. Searles in 1920, the property passed through various hands until 1946 when the present organization, Methuen Memorial Music Hall Inc., was incorporated for the purpose of preserving the unique property as a civic and cultural center.

On June 24, 1947, after reconstruction and additions, the Great Organ was rededicated and opened to the public.

The Great Organ had a 21 year history in Boston before it was removed in 1884 to make room for the Boston Symphony Orchestra. After 13 years in storage, the late Edward Searles of Methuen bought the organ at auction, rebuilt it, and commissioned Henry Vaughn, an English architect, to design a hall for it. The first concert was given on Dec. 9, 1909.

Coffee Hour Is Scheduled

The Christian Education Committee of the Free Christian Church has arranged a coffee hour to be held in the upper parish Hall immediately following the Worship Service Sunday morning.

All are cordially invited to attend.

The Committee is especially desirous of talking with the Church School parents to inform them of plans and desires for the days ahead.

Miss Mary F. Coleman

Featured In School Film

Miss Mary F. Coleman of Andover, a junior high teacher at the Timberlane Regional High School, Plaistow, N.H., was featured in a film shown recently at the annual convention of the New England Association of Teachers of English.

The video tape showed highlights of a program introduced in one of her eighth grade classes. Its purpose was to develop interest in a project that required students to work in groups and share their experiences with their peers.

According to Charles Mague, chairman of the Timberlane Regional H.S. Reading Department, who attended the convention as a guest consultant, Miss Coleman received high praise on her efforts.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Coleman, 9 Pinecrest Road, Andover, Miss Coleman received her bachelor of arts degree in English from Merrimack College. She is also secretary of the Timberlane Regional Education Association.

On Dean's List

Miss Elizabeth Black of 7 Sweetbriar Lane, Andover, has been named to the honors list at Farleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N.J., for the spring semester. To attain honors list standing a student must have an average of 3.5.

King Ahasuerus of Persia gave a party that lasted 180 days.

Art Festival At Sanborn

The Sanborn School P.T.A. will hold an Art Festival on Wednesday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. Parents and children are invited.

Miss Michele LaVallee, art teacher at Sanborn School, will display the children's art work in the cafetorium. Areas will be set up with children instructing parents in puppet making, painting, charcoal drawing and many other art activities. So bring along a smock and join the fun!

Refreshments for parents and children will be served in the Sidewalk Cafe on the stage.

Concerts At Castle

First in a series of Christmas Carol Concerts will be given in the candle-lit Great Hall of the Hammond Castle on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 3 p.m. This concert, ushering in the Advent Season presented by Mrs. Corinne B. Witham, Museum Director and Organist and Mrs. Gloria Cahoon, Carol Sing Leader, offers audience participation singing Christmas Carols and Rounds. The Noel Caroleers, The Sidell Family Singers and several soloists are also included. The Christmas Carol Concert is repeated on Sundays, Dec. 9, 16 and 23 all at 3 p.m.

Kenneth Wilson, Organist will be giving a series of Christmas Concerts on Fridays, Dec. 14 and 21 and Saturdays, Dec. 1, 8, 15 and 22, all at 8:30 p.m.

Holiday Party By Chapter

Mrs. Philip A. Vigeant

Members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the Home for Little Wanderers are finalizing details for a festive holiday party to be held at the Andover Country Club on Sunday, Dec. 9 from 5 until 7 p.m.

Colorful invitations invite area guests for "likker and home made goodies," and make note of such unusual background entertainment as Barbershopper singers and an accomplished piano player. With yule logs blazing in the club's fireplaces and cheerfully decorated hors d'oeuvres tables, a most memorable evening is anticipated.

Candy Sale Scheduled

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will join with the Greater Lawrence YMCA in the annual Candy Sale to benefit the YMCA World Service Program. World

Service is the mission work of the YMCA. In many of the 12,000 YMCAs operating in 83 countries around the world, poverty is common and children may depend entirely upon the YMCA for education, health care, job training, as well as for the programs in sports, camping and playground activities more common in this country.

YMCA members in grades 4-6 are asked to anticipate in this project which is intended to provide YMCA programs to less fortunate children around the world. Children of other ages may participate with parental approval.

The campaign will start at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 8 and will conclude on Dec. 22 at noon. Interested children may obtain candy at the Andover YMCA office, 10 Brook St. or the North Andover YMCA office, 33 Johnson St.

Coleman - Cooke

Miss Gertrude Elizabeth Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Foster Cooke, Sr., of Cedar Knolls, N.J. and Edward Francis Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Coleman of 9 Pinecrest Road, Andover, were married recently in an ecumenical service at Hildale Park Presbyterian Church, Cedar Knolls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian gown of starched chiffon accented with inserts of heirloom lace. Her coronet consisted of miniature roses and stephanotis. She carried a single American beauty rose.

Miss Ellen Miller of Brookline was maid of honor and Miss Nancy Grossman of Malden was bridesmaid. Lawrence Kidd of Andover performed the best man duties and Richard Bluechfeld of Buffalo, N.Y. ushered.

After a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple vacationed at Cape Cod.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Syracuse University, is employed at Ram Broadcasting Company in Boston. Her husband is a 1967 graduate of Phillips Academy, a 1971 graduate of

Mrs. Edward F. Coleman

Syracuse University, and a 1973 graduate of Leland-Powers School of Broadcasting in Brookline. He is a station announcer at WHAV in Haverhill. The couple is now at home in Melrose.

Miner - Braaten

At home in Clark, N.J., following their Nov. 24 wedding, are Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Lewis Miner IV.

The bride is the former Mary Ellen Braaten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Carl Braaten of Goleta, Calif., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Miner III of Andover.

The afternoon wedding took place in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, Plainfield N.J., with Mrs. Joseph Vermeire serving her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Ross of San Francisco and Miss Diane Carol Stewart of Covina, Calif. Marc Joseph Vermeire, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

John Stevens Miner was best man for his brother, and ushers included another brother, Daniel Gore Miner, and Neal Prescott, George Turbott and Joseph Vermeire.

The new Mrs. Miner wore a lace gown with long sleeves and a chapel train. She wore a wreath of babies' breath in her hair and carried a prayer book with cymbidium and stephanotis.

The bride is a graduate of San Diego State University. Her father is president of Recsei Laboratories in Goleta, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Bernard Sandell of Moline, Ill., and the late Mr. and

Mrs. Joshua L. Miner, IV

Mrs. Oscar Braaten.

Her husband, a graduate of Governor Dummer Academy in Byfield, received a degree in engineering from Lafayette College, and is now a manager for Proctor & Gamble in New Jersey. His father was founding president of Outward Bound, Inc., and is currently director of admissions at Phillips Academy.

The groom is also the grandson of Mrs. William Morris Houghton and the late Joshua Lewis Miner of Plainfield, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. John Peters Stevens, Jr., of Edison, N.J.

No. Reading Girl Is "Miss Teen"

Claire Batchelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Batchelder of North Reading, was selected Miss Teen Talent of Massachusetts at recent auditions held at the Sheraton Copley Plaza, Boston.

Claire, who competed against girls from all over the state, will represent Massachusetts at the International Talent Pageant at the Flagship Hotel, Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 26 to 31.

In winning her Massachusetts title, Claire performed a portion of Alexander Glazounov's ballet, "The Seasons." This is the performance which received local praise when she performed with Miss Aina Janson's Ballet School this past spring.

In addition to her dedication to ballet, which she practices 10 to 15 hours each week, Claire is vice president of the senior class at North Reading High, secretary and treasurer of the Flying Club and a member of the school gymnastics team.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Egan

Egan - Krauss

Miss Lynn Michele Krauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Krauss of 261 Beacon St., Andover, became the bride Nov. 2, of Charles Francis Egan. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Patrick Egan of Littleton. The Rev. Robert Gustafson officiated at the 6 o'clock candlelight ceremony at Christ Presbyterian Church, Lawrence, and a reception followed at the Indian Ridge Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of sata peau and chantilly lace, and carried a cascade of Fuji mums, carnations, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

She was attended by Mrs. Daniel Poitras, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Lawrence Egan, bridesmaid.

Lawrence Egan served his brother as best man and ushers were Fred McBreen and John Lambert.

The new Mrs. Egan, a graduate of Andover High School and Bryant McIntosh School of Business, is a statistician with United Brands in Boston. Her husband, who attended Littleton schools, is a veteran of the U.S. Army and is employed by Murray Printing in Westford.

Following a wedding trip to the White Mountains, the couple made their home in Littleton.

Christmas Boutique Tuesday

The public is invited to the annual Christmas Boutique and Coffee of the Newcomer's Club of Andover - North Andover next Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Marc Jasmin, 273 South Main St., Andover.

Handmade articles to be sold include tree ornaments, wall hangings, holiday baked goods, candles, note paper, pine cone wreaths, and other stocking stuffers and decorations.

Reservations for babysitting, for youngsters of walking age through five, may be made through today with Mrs. Thomas Walsh of North Andover, as boutique-goers are requested not to bring children.

Today is also the deadline for donating articles for the boutique, by calling Mrs. Bruce Deery of Andover.

There will a nominal admission charge to the boutique, but complimentary coffee and baked goods will be served.

Mrs. John Hess of North Andover is chairman of the event.

Enrolled At ASB

Janice Nielsen of Andover has enrolled in the Secretarial program at Andover School of Business, according to Gregory R. Bordfield, Director of Admissions. A graduate of Andover High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nielson, 196 Shawsheen Road, Andover.

Austin Prep Newsletter:

By Joseph Sciacca
Students at Austin Prep in Reading returned to the classroom this week following the annual Thanksgiving recess. .the Cougars topped off their Merrimack Valley Conference season with a substantial victory over Arlington Catholic on the 18th. .The team finished with a 4-5 overall record. .members of the Varsity Squad from the Andover area are Mark Costello, Richard Smith and Michael St. Gelais. .

Winter track has announced the opening of its season under the direction of Thomas McDonough. .prospective candidates from Andover are Thomas and Robert Maida. .the basketball teams have been in practice for weeks now. .with the teams are Robert McPeak, Fred McKay and Robert Becotte. .the Ski Team is formulating plans for future competitions. .skiing from Andover are Phillip D'Annolfo and Roy Hoffman. .the intramural program has started its ice-hockey series. .participating from Andover are Mark Giarrusso, Ken Hedrick and Mark Rogala. .

The Legend, Austin's student newspaper, is planning the release of its fourth issue of this year tomorrow. .students who contributed to this issue from Andover are Ken Eulie, Michael Hamel and Joe Sciacca. .the Friars Club, the school lottery, announces that it has received excellent results and that tickets for the drawings are selling quickly. .They are available to local residents through Andover representatives. Call the school to find out the name of the ticket salesperson nearest you. .the Student Council has just completed a week of fundraising for the building of the new tennis courts at the school. .Mark Costello of Andover tells me that the profits were almost double that which were expected. .

The Friends of Austin "Surprise Night" was postponed until a later date. Those with tickets to the event, which was to be an evening of dancing and the 'unexpected,' are reminded that the tickets are still valid for the next announced date. .Andover residents who desire to purchase tickets are asked to call the school business office. .the Folk Group has been organizing its schedule of events for this year. .on the club's membership list from Andover is David Bova. .the Chess club has been very active in competition this past month and, from all indications, have been coming out ahead. .on the team from Andover is Kevin McDonald. .

Reservations are now available for the New Year's Eve celebration at Austin. .it is advisable that you obtain tickets now because this event is a sell-out early every year. .Austin has initiated its annual recruitment program this week. .selected students travel from school to school to talk to potential students and their parents about the possibility of entering Austin as freshmen. .participating from this area are Joe Sciacca, Richard Smith and Michael Hamel. .those who are considering Austin as the secondary school for their son are encouraged to attend the open house on Dec. 3 where they will have an opportunity to witness the way of life at the school firsthand. .

The Drum and Bugle Corp, a new activity at Austin, has been holding meetings concerning practice sessions and the possibility of a full-scale group being formed. .participating from Andover is Ken Eulie. .the Omega, Austin's yearbook is moving into the construction stage of its yearly production. .the Russian club has been exploring means of fund-raising for future activities. .in the club from North Andover is Frank Furnari. .and that's about all from Austin this month.

Mineral Club Meets Monday

The meeting of the Merrimack Valley Mineral Club scheduled for Monday evening, Dec. 3 will feature a talk and slide show by Mr. Ernest Schlichter of Sudbury on Mineral Locations in New England.

Mr. Schlichter's talk will be accompanied both by slides and by the showing of mineral specimens which he has collected and will deal primarily with the Moat Mountain area of New Hampshire.

The meeting is an 8 p.m. in the meeting room of the Bay State National Bank at 84 Main St. in Andover and visitors will be welcome.

Several members of the club who visited this area on a field trip conducted by the club last summer already have some fine specimens of smokie quartz crystals in their collections.

Recycling Saves Energy

By Polly Bradley

The energy crisis is expected to give recycling an enormous boost.

Recycling is a tremendous energy saver. Its savings in energy are possibly even more spectacular than its savings in raw materials, which have generally been emphasized.

Take paper, for example. Twelve trillion BTUs of energy can be saved by recycling a thousand tons of paper. That is an energy savings of about 50 per cent over processing new wood -- and, of course, it saves trees.

Recycling a thousand tons of steel brings an energy savings of 17 trillion BTUs of energy. . . a savings of 74 per cent.

The most amazing energy savings is in recycled aluminum. It takes only 300,000 kilowatt hours of electricity to recycle a thousand tons of aluminum, but takes 16,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity to make a thousand tons of new aluminum. That's a 98 per cent energy savings!

How about glass? Returnable bottles are best by far. Throwaway bottles use 3.11 times the energy of returnable bottles -- so returning empty bottles for refilling saves about 69 per cent in energy.

These are some of the standard reusable materials. There are many other materials that could, and should, be saved from becoming waste. Old tires, for example, have 50 per cent more heat value than coal and can be burned in smokeless, odorless boilers.

Sewage -- yes, plain old sewage -- can, and has been, treated to produce methane gas. Natural gas is methane gas. The organic waste from a feedlot producing 100,000 cattle could supply the natural gas needs of 30,000 people at present rates of use. If the waste from all the feedlots in the country were converted to methane, it would almost double the country's supply of natural gas. If both human and animal wastes were processed, it would produce half again as much as the current natural gas consumption in the United States.

We should tap this resource. Moreover, the residue or sludge left from the processing of the sewage can be made into fuel oil or fertilizer by known processes. And the whole process helps solve the urban and agricultural water pollution problem.

Garbage and trash not recyclable by standard procedures can be recycled as producers of heat and energy. They can run power plants, provide waste heat for municipal buildings, and even melt snow in the cities. This is no theorist's notion: that happens to be how the city of Stockholm, Sweden, generates electricity, heats its public buildings, and melts its snow!

As Allen Morgan, executive vice president of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, says, "People dream up these wild ideas over here, and it turns out they've been doing them for years in Sweden."

CATV On Agenda For Selectmen

The selectmen intend to discuss the appointment of a CATV Advisory committee at their next meeting.

The matter was on the agenda Monday night, but after discussion, it was decided to put the matter over to the next session.

Selectman Edward Sullivan initially moved that the matter be placed on the agenda for the next meeting with possibility of appointment of members. He questioned further delay in the appointments.

When this proposal failed to pass or be seconded, George Heseltine moved that the town manager come to the next meeting with a full explanation of the CATV regulations and if a committee can be appointed at that time then action could be taken, or failing that tabling the appointments.

This was approved.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin advised the board that a committee should be appointed soon, since an application placed before the board requires action within 60 days.

Co-Operative Effort Is Sought

Closer co-operation between the Finance Committee and the selectmen on issues involving the town at the state and county level was sought by FinCom Chairman Frank J. Byrne, in an appearance before the selectmen Monday night.

Byrne said he thought the FinCom felt a municipal board should take a stand on issues such as the compulsory arbitration issue and such things as flagrant abuse at the county level.

The FinCom chairman said it was the feeling of his board that the selectmen should be the board to take such a stand.

As for the compulsory arbitration issue which was ultimately vetoed by Governor Sargent and involved firefighters and police, Byrne said he felt he knew where the selectmen stood on the matter, but never heard from them officially. He said the FinCom had worked with similar boards in surrounding communities in registering opposition to the bill.

The FinCom chairman also noted the petition now in circulation to limit the powers of school committees. The Ten Men of Massachusetts petition would allow town meetings to cut school budgets. Byrne said the FinCom was not willing to take a formal stand on this issue because the two-thirds town meeting vote which would cut a school budget was open to abuse he felt.

Selectman Edmund Sullivan said, "Then you skirted this issue?" Byrne replied in the affirmative.

Chairman Roger W. Collins of the selectmen told Byrne he felt the proposal as presented was sound, but that the evaluation was incomplete.

Collins said the selectmen have been on the telephone with area legislators, have sent telegrams on issues and have been working with other boards in town, particularly with the school committee members on financial matters.

He also noted that this was the first time the FinCom had notified the selectmen of their feelings.

All of which seemed to please the members of the board and the FinCom Chairman.

No Problem Meeting Measures

Andover schools should have little problem meeting the recommended 20 to 25 per cent decrease in fuel consumption simply by maintaining "economy" measures already put into effect, Business Manager Edward Weil said this week.

Weil said that mechanical checks of thermostats and heating systems had already been put into effect, to make sure they're operating as efficiently as possible, and thermostats have been turned down a few degrees.

In addition, after-school activities have been consolidated at the high school and junior highs, to allow other schools to cool down in the evenings and weekends.

At Doherty School, monitors have been stationed at outside doors to close them when they remain open, and such a system will be recommended to other schools.

Teachers and custodians have also been asked to turn off lights in rooms and corridors not in use, and, in the event a room becomes too warm, teachers have been asked not to open the windows, but to call the custodian to see if there's a malfunction in the heating system.

The world's first dynamo was created in 1831, when Michael Faraday, who must have gotten quite a charge out of successful experiments, rotated a copper disk between the poles of a horseshoe magnet and obtained a continuous voltage between two contacts on the disk.

Elderly Get Flu Vaccine

Ninety-seven Andover residents over sixty-five received Bivalent Flu Vaccine at the Flu Vaccination Clinic sponsored by the Andover Board of Health.

The Clinic was held at the East Junior High School through the co-operation of the Andover School Department on Wednesday, Nov. 14 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

A Board of Health member, Dr. William O'Reilly provided the medical supervision and he was assisted by several Andover nurses; Mrs. John Cahill, Mrs. William O'Reilly, Mrs. Fraser Colpitts, Mrs. James Vayanos, Mrs. James Beattie, Mrs. Andre Paradis, Mrs. Girard Nadeau, Mrs. Norman Guild and Mrs. Howard Hamilton, Public Health Nurse.

Dry Fashion

The early Spanish explorers and one latter-day resident of Scotland had one substantial thing in common -- the development of the raincoat. We wear raincoats as a matter of course today, but their invention was comparatively recent.

The earliest Spanish explorers made a clumsy move in the direction of waterproofing. They were constantly plagued by the handicap of wet feet, so they tried painting their own rough shoes with a milky substance that the natives used to keep the dampness out.

In 1770, a chemist, Joseph Priestley, discovered by accident that a congealed bit of this white sap would "rub" out pencil marks, so he named it "rubber."

But it was not until 1823 that Charles Macintosh established a plant at Glasgow, Scotland, to make really waterproof articles from rubber. He turned out quantities of double-thickness fabrics, having two layers cemented together with India rubber. Raincoats of this material were popular in no time, and in tribute to the man who made them possible they were given the name "mackintosh."

We're very sad — and hope you understand

Our front window will not be "decked" with its usual 4-foot Christmas wreath this year. For the first time in the past 12 years it was stolen, within 12 hours of being put up!

Our Christmas Spirit is twinkling though... so do stop in and say hello.
